Worst Floods In History Menace B.C.

Fast-Rising Waters Begin To Take Toll

B.C. today stands on the brink of the worst floods in its history as millions of tons of river water swirl viciously and mount at the rate of a foot a day in depth.

As fast-rising streams cut the Trans-Canada Highway in two sections and an area of Kelowna was inundated, experts yesterday set May 24 as the crucial date. In past years May 24 has been considered the turning point in B.C.'s annual flood problem.

A spokesman for the federal water resources branch said the flood potential as it exists today is "considerably worse" than in 1948 when the floods left 16,000 persons homeless for more than a month and caused $30,000,000 damage.

HIGHWAY CUT

Flash floods cut the Trans-Canada Highway near Chase and Revelstoke in the Interior but public works crews kept the roads open by throwing up dirt ramparts.

Rising water in the Moyie River flooded a portion of the trans-provincial highway south of Cranbrook and the Vernon-Slocan Road is closed as a result of rampaging creeks in the Monashee Mountains.

The Fraser, Columbia, Kootenay and other rivers continued their swift rise and officials estimated that 100,000 cubic feet of water a second is now passing Hope on the Fraser.

The biggest jump was registered in the Columbia at Trail. The guage there showed 13.7 feet yesterday compared with 15.9 feet Tuesday—a gain of more than one foot, four inches.

Experts feel that the Kootenay poses the worst threat, followed by the Columbia and the Fraser.

RUNS RAMPANT

The Renata Creek ran rampant for five hours yesterday, cutting a swath of devastation through the fertile, fruit-growing district near the town of Renata in the first serious flood threat of the Kootenay River this year.

Warm rains Monday and Tuesday caused the creek to overflow its banks for the first time in the history of the centre, situated on the Lower Arrow Lakes about 30 miles from Nelson.

The flash flood caught the villagers totally unprepared as it tore out a bridge in the heart of the town.

It was still swirling over the blossoming orchards last night, and efforts to sandbag the crumbling banks of the stream proved futile. Residents were felling trees in an effort to shore up the banks.

A plea for help brought 1,000 sandbags by truck to Deer Park and these were moved by small boats across the Arrow Lakes.

Though chief damage was to the orchards, a barn was swept away and a house caved in.

FAMILIES FORCED OUT

At Kelowna, waters of Mill Creek spilled over the banks, flooding six blocks of residential area in the heart of the Okanagan Valley town and forcing several families to evacuate.

Fed by a driving, 24-hour rain and swollen by melting snow at its headwaters, the tiny waterway burst its banks on its course through to Okanagan Lake and in several areas topped bridges and poured onto roadways.

No injuries were reported.

Sandbagging operations, which began on a volunteer basis as the creek rose early yesterday, were intensified by city and provincial public works crews. In some districts, gardens were covered to a depth of several feet.

Roadblocks were erected by RCMP later in the day and creek waters were still rising late last night. Police said further evacuation was expected.

It was the second blow dealt the area by nature in the past month.

CROPS RUINED

Earlier, up to 95 per cent of the peach, apricot and pear crops were written off when stricken by an unseasonable frost. Other soft fruits suffered, but not as heavily.

The crops were worth $17,000,000 last year.

Meanwhile, Deputy Public Works Minister Evan Jones said the department will take action where it is necessary in co-operation with local authorities and civil defense personnel.

Mr. Jones was provincial co-ordinator in the battle against the disastrous 1948 floods.

At the same time, Premier W. A. C. Bennett issued a statement pledging full provincial assistance.

"The government is closely watching any possible flood condition that might arise," he said. "The assistance of all government departments that may be required will be channeled through the minister of public works who will co-operate with other provincial departments, civil defense and local authorities."

The deputy minister was on the phone to the district engineer at Kimberley yesterday while he was being interviewed by this reporter.

The engineer was told to take full charge of any diking and sand-bagging which may be necessary and to get equipment through the civil defense co-ordinator.

Mr. Jones said that Kimberley was under no immediate threat but preparations were being made "to make sure we won't be caught off guard."

Mark Creek, which spilled over in 1948 and caused $500,-

Gibraltar Bars Security Risks

A tight security crackdown during the visit of Queen Elizabeth to Gibraltar is being continued as the Royal visitors sail homeward. Taking no chances in view of Spanish claims on the fortress, police have announced that 600 Spanish workers have been refused permission to return to their jobs on "The Rock." Above, stern-faced security police check credentials of some of the 12,000 Spaniards who enter the colony daily to work.—(Central Press Canadian.)

Outside Workers Ask Government For Strike Vote

Demands Raised

A strike vote has been asked by the 200-member Victoria civic outside workers' union to back demands of wage parity with Vancouver's outside staff.

—Union president Cecil Holt said the vote was asked last night after official notification that the city had rejected a unanimous conciliation board recommendation of a 3 per cent wage increase.

The union had accepted the award, which was not binding upon either party. The award has now been abandoned in favor of the strike vote and original wage demands, which average 19 cents an hour.

DISCUSSION TODAY

City council may discuss the workers' action at its session this afternoon.

Tonight the inside workers meet to decide on future action in view of a similar refusal by council to grant them a 3 per cent increase unanimously recommended by the conciliation board.

Some aldermen last night said they favored the dispute going to arbitration. Alderman Arthur Dowell, works committee chairman, said he was "sorry" to hear the report.

He felt council shouldn't have turned down the recommendation as it was unanimous. He added that there was no justification for such an increase.

"The only logical solution now is arbitration," Alderman Dowell said.

Ald. W. F. Pinfold, who said he voted in council for the award, said he thought the union would agree to arbitration before "any drastic action."

He said that firemen made concessions, the police department estimates were pared, inside staff offered to accept 2 per cent, and the city has made no overtures.

Ald. R. P. Macmillan said "I expected it." He learned, the alderman said, that when outside workers voted on the 3 per cent award there was a majority of only 5 per cent in favor of acceptance.

He favored an increase to the workers because police and firemen received them, unjustifiably so, and one group should not be favored over another, Ald. Macmillan said.

"The action now is in support of a legitimate complaint," he said.

Ald. Mrs. Margaret Christie said she had no comment.

Ald. Brent Murdoch said his stand is arbitration and suggested it for both inside and outside union disputes.

The government-supervised vote probably will not be set up until late next week. If a strike is authorized it could begin immediately after the vote.

Any work stoppage could affect garbage collections and dumping of garbage by Oak Bay from the city facilities, works projects including water lights, sewers, roads, traffic lights, and similar city work.

Bibles, Newlyweds Head for Russia

An unprecedented cold war move to launch a barrage of more than 100,000 balloons carrying Russian language Bibles deep into Russia is expected to start from Munich, Germany, next week. The Rev. Billy James Hargis, shown holding some of the balloons at Nuremberg, said the Bibles will be sent forth as soon as weather permits. Mr. Hargis is a representative of the International Council of Christian Churches.

On a honeymoon journey to Moscow, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Jean Cote of Ottawa are seen upon their arrival at Liverpool, Eng., aboard the Canadian luxury liner, the Empress of Scotland. Their honeymoon destination was "chosen" for them by the Canadian foreign office, who posted Mr. Cote to Moscow as first secretary to the Canadian embassy there. —(Central Press Canadian.)

Cabinet To Consider Move

Canada May Halt Immigrants Because of Unemployment

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada may cut down on immigration for the remainder of 1954 as the result of unemployment. (See further story on Page 17).

The government will be conducting its half-yearly survey of the immigration outlook this month, and informants said Wednesday the 1954 program could be affected by unemployment that reached a post-war peak a few weeks ago.

The question the cabinet will consider, it was stated, is whether Canada can continue to take in immigrants at the current rate when there is more unemployment than normal in the country.

The unemployment — which reached a top of 570,000 job-seekers in late March—Wednesday led the executive council of the 580,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada to call on the government to cut off immigration altogether for at least the remainder of this year.

Immigration Minister Harris said in an interview the government does not intend to make a complete cut-off.

Last year, Canada brought in 168,000 immigrants. Early this year, Mr. Harris predicted the number of 1954 arrivals would be about the same.

Shivering Czech Flies to Freedom

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — A shivering 23-year-old Czech, clad only in his underwear, crash-landed a two-engine civilian plane in the U.S. troop training area at Grafenwoehr near here Wednesday and asked for asylum in the West.

The four-seat plane broke a wing when it crash-landed after crossing the nearby Iron Curtain border but the pilot escaped injuries, German police said.

The name of the pilot and other details were not disclosed.

Canada Needs More, or Less

Business Men, Labor Split on Immigration

Reaction of business and industry is diametrically opposed to that of labor regarding the Canadian immigration policy.

Where industry wants more potential buyers, labor fears a glut on the job market.

Here are some of the points made by representative British Columbians queried on the immigration policy:

George Wheaton, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, thought immigration should be encouraged.

He said: "It may look like a rather obvious remedy, but the long-term requirement of Canada is to have more people who can contribute to our national productivity. Canadians cannot improve this country by building a fence around it and attempting to trade among ourselves."

DON'T CUT DOWN

Hector Crombie, managing secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, didn't think it conducive to prosperity in the long run to cut down on immigration.

"I feel the prosperity of all democratic countries has been based on the principle of accepting people from all countries," he said.

Our unemployment today, I believe, is the result of pricing ourselves out of world markets."

M. Aubrey Kent said: "It always seems to me that, within reasonable limits, the fact of immigrants coming to Canada creates employment.

"They have to live, too, and by their efforts they very often create other jobs. I think it important that we increase our population with reasonable speed because we can hardly hope to hold Canada, as big as it is, with a 15,000,000 population indefinitely."

REAL PROGRAM NEEDED

E. T. Staley, Provincial Council of Carpenters secretary, said it is time the government "cut-off or slowed" immigration unless it is prepared to implement a "real program."

The program would have to include housing and efforts to place immigrants on an equal basis with Canadian citizens. Many newcomers are under obligation to pay back passage or stay in one place, he said.

French Government May Collapse Today

PARIS (Reuters)—Premier Joseph Laniel's shaky government faces a crucial confidence vote on Indo-China today which may mean the end of the 10-month coalition regime.

Last-minute support for the Laniel cabinet came Wednesday from President Eisenhower's press conference statement, promising the United States is not yet resigned to losing Indo-China. (See Page 21.)

But French politicians still were worried by U.S. State Secretary Dulles' statement Tuesday that Indo-China is not essential to the security of Asia.

Dulles' statement was regarded here as crossing up Foreign Minister Georges Bidault's attempts to arrange a favorable Indo-China truce at the Geneva Far East conference.

The National Assembly is to act today on Laniel's call for a vote of confidence. If the Assembly votes down his request for postponement of a full-scale debate on Indo-China, the French government will fall.

Solitary Term Confirmed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — An army appeal court confirmed Wednesday the three-year solitary confinement sentence on conviction of treason handed to Iran's ex-dictator Mohammed Mossadegh by a lower military tribunal.

The court voted 6 to 1 to uphold the sentence and conviction the lower court gave the aged nationalist leader December 21 on charges he sought to overthrow the Shah before he himself was ousted last August by the royalist forces of Fazollah Zahedi, who replaced Mossadegh as premier.

The court increased from two to three years the prison sentence of Mossadegh's former army chief of staff, Gen. Taghi Riahi, charged with ordering the army's defiance of the shah's orders that Mossadegh resign.

Comox Lad To Get Medal

COURTENAY—A Comox lad, Robert Waters, will be in Vancouver Tuesday to receive the George Medal from Canada's governor-general, Right Honorable Vincent Massey. The award was made for the boy's part in rescuing airmen from a blazing Lancaster which crashed near here in 1950.

Quest Begins Today For Atomic Pact

LONDON (AP) — The world's five leading atomic powers meet today in quest of a pact ending the arms race and outlawing atomic and germ warfare.

There were guarded hints from British and American informants that the western powers, jointly or individually, might put forward revised proposals in a bid to break the deadlock with Russia.

The secret talks are under United Nations auspices.

Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd is to open the conference and may read a personal message from Prime Minister Churchill to the American, French, Canadian and Soviet delegates, the informants reported.

The group will be meeting as the sub-committee of the UN disarmament commission.

It will be the first time Russian and western disarmament experts have faced each other since disclosure of the effects of the hydrogen bomb. These disclosures led the Churchill government to propose that a new effort at control should be made in London.

Londoners Swelter, Rehearse

Big Welcome for Queen

LONDON (UP)—Shirt-sleeved, sweltering Londoners Wednesday rehearsed the welcome planned for Queen Elizabeth II when she returns Saturday from her Commonwealth tour. They kept an anxious eye on clouds that might spoil the show.

Present plans call for the Queen to parade up the Thames River by ship and boat to London's Westminster pier and transfer there to a carriage for the ride through the city to Buckingham Palace. If the weather is too bad, however, she will land at Gravesend, 28 miles down river.

A spring heat wave pushed the temperature here Wednesday up to 79, highest of the year, but storm clouds massed over the city late in the day and the weather forecast was "probably cooler, with possible rain."

It already was raining off the Portuguese coast, where the Royal yacht Britannia was steaming north toward home and the end of the 44,000-mile trip that has kept the Queen away for six months.

Reports from the ship said the yacht's captain has reduced speed from 20 to 18 knots in an effort to lessen the vibrations that had disturbed the Royal family's slumbers, but the slowdown was not sufficient to compel any change in the welcome-home plans.

Parking Area Beside School

'Necking Lot' Discussed

NANAIMO—The parking enclosure adjacent to the Nanaimo senior high school auditorium is "a necking lot," Dr. John P. Tully told Nanaimo district school board Wednesday when complaints of misdemeanors in the lot were reported by high school principal J. B. Litch.

Trustee Laura Campbell said she also had seen the area being used as a race track.

A particular instance of a car allegedly being driven dangerously was cited. Mr. Litch said that when public functions were proceeding, a watchman was employed but he had found it impossible on occasions to cope with the situations. The case in question was one when the driver failed to stop, drove his car over the sidewalk into a group of people and escaped.

Principal Litch, who interviewed the party, asked permission to refer the case to board's legal advisor to ascertain if a case can be made. Dr. Tully pointed out that misdemeanors on private property do not come under RCMP. Every night that something was going on at the auditorium, there was trouble on the grounds, the principal had reported. Eventually, the area would have to be fenced, but this was costly, he said.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THOR Arngrim of the Totem Theatre felt a liquid trickling down his neck as he sat in his dressing room. With his current part of a murderer in "Rope" weighing on his mind, he thought for a moment that it might be blood.

However, it turned out to be nothing but water from the rain-machine on stage.

The rain-machine — which is basically a pipe full of holes — is very efficient and realistic. The only trouble about it is that the drainage sometimes overflows into Thor's dressing room.

* * *

My Siamese cat, who played a part in "Bell, Book and Candle," which closed Saturday, has now come home.

When the Totem signed him up, I expressed fear that he would return as a stage-struck cat, miaowing in rich, pear-shaped tones and wearing a tartan jacket like Thor Arngrim.

Darned if Kitty Dutcher didn't make him a tartan jacket. He wore it when they handed him over, and kept it on all the way home in the car.

I suppose the cat will be claiming that his ancestors came from the Highlands of Siam.

He looks fatter and sleeker than he ever looked before in his life. I am going to some trouble to wean him away from his expensive tastes for liver and such morsels.

But he won't remain fat and sleek for long. Now that the theatre has got into his blood, he will probably spend his time miaowing from one booking agent to another, begging for a part—any part. Not necessarily a cat. He will be willing to play a dog, or a monkey.

Booking agents will look at his ragged, moulting, fur coat and his thin body, and shake their heads.

"Well," one of them will finally say, relenting a little, "there is something open—a part as a sewer rat in 'Les Miserables.' But on second thoughts, you won't do. You haven't the build for it. Now, if you'll excuse me, I have an appointment with a horse."

* * *

Some people are worried about whether the Totem will get a sufficient number of customers to stay in business here.

The publishers of the Encyclopedia Americana, at any rate, have no such doubts. The year-book of the encyclopedia, just out, lists Totem among theatre companies—which seems to give them standing as a permanent fixture.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce people were halfway through packing mimeographed letters to the industrial development group yesterday when Colonist reporter Alec Merriman spotted a mistake. They were using letters a month old, which had somehow got mixed up with the new ones.

The office staff had to comb through several hundred envelopes to set things right.

Delicate New Instrument

Physicist's Scale Proves Amazing

BY THOMAS R. HENRY
Science Editor (NANA)

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va.—Physicists here have devised a "scale" so delicate that it can gauge weights in the range of 1/100,000th of an ordinary ink signature.

In terms of statistics although they scarcely make the incredibly delicate instrument [illegible] measurements have the accuracy of less than 1/30th of 1/000,000,000th of an ounce. The achievement was described to the Virginia Academy of Sciences at its annual meeting held here.

TEST EQUATION

The "scale" was developed over the last five years by the physics department of the University of Virginia. With it, according to Dr. Charles W. Hurlburt of the university staff, it is hoped eventually to measure the weight of matter transformed into energy by atomic activity and thus actually demonstrate the truth of the famous relativity equation of Albert Einstein which is the basis of all atomic energy experiments.

The device consists of an extremely minute sphere of some magnetic material suspended in a chamber filled with gas. The sphere, which has no support except the magnetic attraction provided by an electric current, sinks somewhat in the gas like a solid particle in water.

Against this sphere a beam of light is focused through the glass wall of the chamber. This light is reflected from the sphere to a phototube which in turn controls the current which causes the magnetic attraction.

VACUUM BUILT UP

Then a vacuum is built up. The less gas, the lower the sphere sinks in it, and hence the less light is reflected to the phototube. This affects the current in a way which can be translated into terms of mass with the result recorded on a dial.

The device is still very much in the experimental stage, Dr. Hurlburt explained, but eventually it is expected to reach an accuracy of approximately three-hundred billionth of an ounce. This sort of accuracy would be necessary for a physical test of the Einstein hypothesis.

GUAGE DIFFERENCE

In such a test one of the spheres presumably would be coated with some radioactive material, the disintegration of whose atoms would represent a transformation of mass into energy. As the weight diminished, the difference would be gauged on the scale.

Although demonstrated theoretically, this transformation is too minute to measure by any other means known to physicists. In such a body as the sun it amounts to thousands of tons a year, still a minute part of the total mass of the sun. The amount of mass released as energy in a hydrogen bomb explosion is far too minute to be detected on any scales.

Sherlock Holmes Adventure

'Hound of the Baskervilles'

BY SIR ARTHURS CONAN DOYLE

(Published by arrangement with the estate of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. World rights reserved. Illustrations copyrighted, 1954, by King Features Syndicate Inc.)

A peculiar country doctor has brought to Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson a strange old document, and hints at strange circumstances in the death of Sir Charles Baskerville. He offers to send it.

Holmes leaned back in his chair, placed his finger-tips together, and closed his eyes, with an air of resignation. Dr. Mortimer turned the manuscript to the light and read in a high, crackling voice the following curious, old-world narrative:

"Of the origin of the Hound of the Baskervilles there have been many statements, yet as I come in a direct line from Hugo Baskerville, and as I had the story from my father, who also had it from his, I have set it down with all belief that it occurred even as in here set forth. Learn then from this story not to fear the fruits of the past, but rather to be circumspect in the future, that those foul passions whereby our family has suffered so grievously may not again be loosed to our undoing.

"Know then that in the time of the Great Rebellion (the history of which by the learned Lord Clarendon I most earnestly commend to your attention) this Manor of Baskerville was held by Hugo of that name, nor can it be gainsaid that he was a most wild, profane and godless man. This, in truth, his neighbors might have pardoned, seeing that saints have never flourished in those parts, but there was in him a certain wanton and cruel humor which made his name a byword through the West. It chanced that this Hugo came to love (if, indeed, so dark a passion may be known under so bright a name) the daughter of a yeoman who held lands near the Baskerville estate. But the young maiden, being discreet and of good repute, would ever avoid him, for she feared his evil name.

"So it came to pass that one Michaelmas this Hugo, with five or six of his idle and wicked companions, stole down upon the farm and carried her off. When they had brought her to the Hall, the maiden was placed in an upper chamber, while Hugo and his friends sat down to a long carouse, as was their nightly custom. Now, the poor lass upstairs was like to have her wits turned at the singing and shouting and terrible oaths which came up to her from below, for they say that the words used by Hugo Baskerville, when he was in wine, were such as might blast the man who said them. At last in the stress of her fear she did that which might have daunted the bravest or most active man, for by aid of the growth of ivy which covered (and still covers) the south wall she came down from under the eaves, and so homeward across the moor, there being three leagues betwixt the Hall and her father's farm.

"It chanced that some little time later Hugo left his guests to carry food and drink—with other worse things perchance—to his captive, and so found the cage empty and the bird escaped. Then, as it would seem, he became as one that hath a devil, for rushing down the stairs into the the dining hall, he sprang upon the great table, flagons and trenchers flying before him, and he cried aloud before all the company that he would that very night render his body and soul to the Powers of Evil if he might but overtake the wench. And while the revellers stood aghast at the fury of the man, one more wicked or, it may be, more drunken than the rest, cried out that they should put the hounds upon her. Whereat Hugo ran from the house, crying to his grooms that they should saddle his mare and unkennel the pack, and giving the hounds a kerchief of the maid's, he swung them to the line, and so off full cry in the moonlight over the moor.

"Now, for some space the revellers stood agape. But anon their benused wits awoke to the nature of the deed which was like to be done upon the moorlands. Everything was now in an uproar, some calling for their pistols, some for their horses, and some for another flask of wine. But at length some sense came back to their crazed minds, and the whole of them, 13 in number, took horse and started in pursuit. The moon shone clear above them, and they rode swiftly abreast, taking that course which the maid must needs have taken if she were to reach her own home.

"They had gone a mile or two, when they passed one of the night shepherds upon the moorlands, and they cried to him to know if he had seen the hunt. And the man, as the story goes, was so crazed with fear that he could scarce speak, but at last he said that he had indeed seen the unhappy maiden, with the hounds upon her track. 'But I have seen more than that,' he said, 'for Hugo Baskerville passed me upon his black mare, and there ran mute behind him such a hound of hell as God forbid should ever be at my heels.' So the drunken squires cursed the shepherd and rode onward. But soon their skins turned cold, for there came a galloping across the moor, and the black mare, dabbled with white froth, went past with bridle trailing and empty saddle. Then the revellers rode close together, for a great fear was on them. Riding slowly in this fashion they came at last upon the hounds. These, though known for their valor and their breed, were whimpering in a cluster at the head of a deep dip or goyal.

"The company had come to a halt, more sober men than when they started. Most of them would by no means advance, but three of them, the boldest, or it may be the most drunken, rode forward down the goyal. Now, it opens into a broad space in which stood two of those great stones still to be seen there, which were set by certain forgotten peoples in the days of old. The moon was shining bright upon the clearing, and there in the centre lay the unhappy maid where she had fallen, dead of fear and fatigue. But it was not the sight of her body, nor yet was it that of the body of Hugo Baskerville lying near her, which raised the hair upon the head of these three dare-devil roysterers, but it was that, standing over Hugo, and plucking at his throat, there stood a foul thing, a great, black beast, shaped like a hound, yet larger than any hound that some mortal eye has rested upon. And even as they looked, the thing tore the throat out of Hugo Baskerville, on which, as it turned it blazing eyes and dripping jaws upon them, the three shrieked with fear and rode for dear life, still screaming across the moor.

"Such is the tale of the coming of the hound which is said to have plagued the family so sorely ever since. To Providence, my sons, I hereby commend you, and I counsel you by way of caution to forbear from crossing the moor in those dark hours when the powers of evil are exalted.

"This from Hugo Baskerville to his sons Rodger and John, with instructions that they say nothing thereof to their sister Elizabeth."

Garden Notes

Fertilizer Helps Trees

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Leaf-Losing Geraniums—E.A.C., Victoria. The reason your geraniums drop their leaves after they have been set outside is likely due to dryness at the roots, or possibly a cold, drafty location. If they are set out too early, there are often ground frosts in the early hours of the morning which will wither the leaves. We have had such frosts as late as May 9.

Care of Fruit Trees—E. B., Victoria. It will help your trees a great deal if you give them a substantial dressing of all-purpose fertilizer such as Vigoro or Gardenite. They will take as much as a cupful a square yard of root run, measuring out to the furthest extent of the branches, where the most active feeding roots are located.

In addition to the fertilizer, the stone fruits—the cherries, plums and peaches—should have a similar amount of ground limestone, scratched into the surface soil.

A steady supply of moisture is essential, but rather than frequent waterings, I prefer to secure this condition by mulching heavily. Alternate periods of dryness and moisture can lead to cracked and misshapen fruits and premature fruit fall.

Multiflora Rose Hedge—H.S.H., Victoria. The multiflora rose makes an excellent hedge for farms and large homes in the country, but it is a bit ungainly for the average city lot. Remember, too, that you can't have it both ways—if you choose a hedge which grows quickly, you're going to spend a lot of your time trimming and pruning it. The slow growers, while they take some time to make an effective hedge, are much easier to keep under control.

Creeping Charlie — R.E.C., Victoria. The plant known as Creeping Charlie is Nepeta hederacea, sometimes known as ground ivy, and it is a member of the catnip family. It will grow in very poor soil, in either full sun or shade. The leaves are roundish, about two inches across, and with scalloped margins, and the vines bear tiny mauve-blue flowers. The leaves have the typical aromatic catnip scent when crushed, and the plant makes an excellent ground cover for difficult spots where nothing else will grow.

However, I think you would be very foolish if you introduce Creeping Charlie into your rock garden, for it has the Hitler trait of demanding "Lebensraum" and will invade all the neighboring territories. Once it is established in a rock garden, you can't get rid of it without taking the whole thing apart, rock by rock.

While a trifle weedy in nature, Creeping Charlies is a delightful little ground cover, as long as you keep it behind an iron curtain, as you would mint.

I can't find the seeds listed in any of my catalogues, but I think I have seen plants of the varigated kind, with a silver margin to the leaves, offered for sale in the City Market.

Garden Book — G.D.D., Victoria. The only book on flower gardening I know of, written especially for the West Coast, is the Sunset Flower Garden Book, published by the Lane Publishing Company and sold in Victoria by the Marionette Library. I believe the price is about $2.25.

Another very good garden book is The Complete Book of garden Magic by Roy E. Biles. It is a bit more expensive—about $4.50—and it is not written specifically for Pacific Coast conditions, but the diagrams and illustrations make it a very easy book to follow.

Missing Columns — F.R.A., Victoria. I wouldn't worry too much about those gaps in your 1953 scrap book, if I were you. I'll be covering all those subjects again in due course, and with more modern treatments and techniques.

Horticulture is going ahead so fast today, with new discoveries being made every day, that a last year's column is like a model "T" Ford. For instance, I am on the trail right now, trying to trace down some reports of experiments made in a U.S. university involving the use of powdered milk as a soil stimulant.

Keep up your scrap book, by all means, but don't worry about the missing columns. There'll be better ones along tomorrow.

Sudden Flood On Prairies Takes Bridges

AYLSHAM, Sask. (CP)—The rain-swollen Carrot River has washed out three iron bridges and flooded a number of grain elevator annexes in this farming district about 150 miles northwest of Prince Albert.

The flood, brought on by a week of rain and a heavy run-off from deep snow, reached its peak last week end when water flowed in the streets of Aylsham and marooned several houses for about three days. Damage, however, is reported slight.

Flood waters still were flowing Wednesday to a depth of five feet over one bridge and two others were under shallow rushing water.

Field Day Scores Tied At Margaret Jenkins

Competition ran hot and close ing to a pennant in athletics Wednesday afternoon at the annual field day of Margaret Jenkins school—so close, in fact, that the inter-house competition resulted in a tie.

All square at the close of the day were Richmond and Gonzales houses, with 50 points each. Close behind the leaders were Crescent with 47 points, and Hollywood with 35.

These points will be added to the houses' year-long total, leading to a pennant in athletics awarded at the term's close.

Four grade 6 students took top honors as individuals. Outstanding for the girls was Joan Powell, whose seven points won her the girls' cup. Second was Carol Newberry, with five points.

Another tie developed among the boys. John Youson and Tom Hammond, with eight points each, will have to share the boys' cup between them for the next year.

New Quakes Shatter Ten Villages in Greece

ATHENS (UP)—A new earthquake Wednesday shattered whole villages in the western Peloponnesus region where the first Olympic Games were held 27 centuries ago.

One person was killed and 22 injured. Officials reported 163 buildings destroyed or damaged.

The violent earth shock hit at 4.17 a.m. (7.17 p.m. PDT, Tuesday). Sending sleepy inhabitants fleeing to the fields in scenes of terror that are becoming commonplace in quake plagued Greece.

The tremors affected an area from Tripolis in the Central Peloponnesus to the coastal Pyrgos sector near Olympia, where Greek athletes staged the first olympiad in honor of the god Zeus in 776 B.C.

Rockslides blocked one road connecting two villages in the worst-hit neighborhood around Pyrgos. In places the ground buckled into wedge-shaped ridges.

Authorities reported one dead and 22 injured in the 10 villages hit in the Pyrgos area. They counted 84 homes destroyed and 58 badly damaged.

Two persons were reported injured and 21 homes damaged around Tripolis.

In the Pyrgos area, serious damage was reported from Aspraspitia, Lala, Lemou, Aenladiki, Vassiliki and Xylokastron. The lone casualty occurred in Aspraspitia when a house roof caved in, killing one woman and injuring five members of her family.

The Greek army rushed help to the stricken areas, and relief agencies were mobilized for immediate assistance.

Another earth shock was reported earlier this morning at Larissa in Central Thessaly, where 25 died and 152 were injured in a major quake last month. This time, no deaths or injuries were reported from this area.

Last August 400 persons were killed when a great earthquake smashed towns in the Ionian Islands of Cephalonia, Ithaca and Zante, just across the Gulf of Arcadia from Pyrgos.

Scientists believe the quakes are caused by a great earth fault beneath Greece and its surrounding seas. Each time there is a subterranean land adjustment there are new tremors and devastation on the surface.

'Violence' Taught In Japanese School

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese legislators were told Wednesday that Communists teachers in a Kyoto high school added arson, general destruction and rock throwing to the curriculum.

The school was taken over by a group of Communist teachers this week and anti-Red teachers are holding classes in the city auditorium. Education Minister Shigeo Odachi branded their action tantamount to "revolution by force and violence."

Yoshinosuke Ishida, chairman of the Kyoto municipal assembly, said the children were organized into "stone throwing squads," "destruction squads," and "fire starting squads" by their teachers.

Younger students became members of "crying squads" which go into action if a Communist teacher is arrested or any other time tears might be effective.

Veteran Drunk Finds 500th Time Lucky

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Mary Ellen McGregor, 71, appeared in court for the 500th time here Wednesday on a drunk and disorderly charge. The magistrate gasped when Mary Ellen's record was read out by a court official, then commented sternly: "We have no flags to put out here but I am going to discharge you in commemoration of your notorious record."

Officer's Act 'Reprehensible'

Eisenhower Raps McCarthy Source

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday denounced as reprehensible what he called the insubordination of an army intelligence officer who allegedly gave secret FBI information to Senator Joseph R. McCarthy. (See also story Page 20.)

The president also declared the army is perfectly capable of digging out any security risks in its ranks. But he said an occasional look see from Congress can be useful. He recalled an old army saying: "That which is not inspected deteriorates."

In still another comment he said certain secrets should be given only to those needing them to make a decision.

McCarthy said he had "no comment" on Mr. Eisenhower's statements.

$400,000 Due As Bridge Aid

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has decided to pay up to $400,000 of the cost of a new bridge between Vancouver and Sea Island, site of the Vancouver airport.

Works Minister Winters, making the announcement in the Commons Wednesday, said the amount will be one-third of the estimated cost of $1,200,000 for a span to replace the present Marpole bridge, which he said is inadequate.

Mr. Winters made his announcement after Tom Goode (L—Burnaby-Richmond) asked whether federal aid for the bridge will be given now that the Vancouver city council has agreed to sell Sea Island airport to the federal government.

NOT JUSTIFIED

Mr. Winters said later outside the House the government feels there is no justification for federal aid to an alternate proposal by the provincial government that of a high-level bridge from Vancouver to Lulu Island. That bridge would be part of a proposed main highway to the United States.

Federal aid would be for a low-level bridge to Sea Island, with a lift section to allow passage of water traffic.

Transport Minister Chevrier has informed Vancouver that the federal government has accepted the city's offer to sell its civic airport for $1,000,000. It would be transferred to the transport department Nov. 1, 1955.

In Vancouver, B.C. Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi said the federal government's offer to contribute $400,000 toward a new Marpole span was "totally unrealistic." He said he had never at any time suggested the Marpole span, or replacing it with another one at the same site.

"I don't think that report can be authentic," said Mr. Gaglardi when asked to comment on the announcement.

"The proposition that was placed before Ottawa doesn't call for such a structure."

U.S. Attitude On Columbia Takes Change

OTTAWA (CP)—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission, said Wednesday the United States is abandoning what he called its "ostrich-head-in-the-sand attitude" to downstream benefits for Canada from Columbia river power.

He also told the Commons external affairs committee that the $125,000,000 Mica Creek dam project on the British Columbia section of the Columbia could be cleared for construction within a year.

INTENSE RIVALRY

Gen. McNaughton said intense rivalry is developing between B.C. and the Northwest U.S. concerning who is going to receive the benefits of Columbia river power.

The change in administration from Democrat to Republican was an advantage to Canada in this regard. Plans for the $,300,000,000 Libby dam on the Columbia in Montana called for construction by the interior department or U.S. Army engineers during the Truman regime.

The Eisenhower administration had decided to encourage the states and private interests to develop the project.

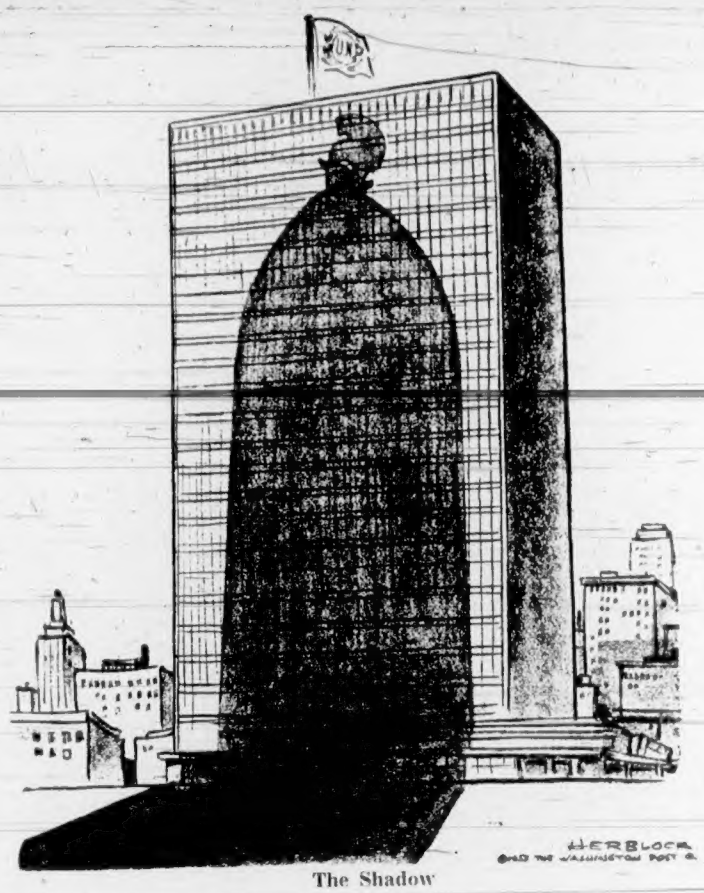
The Deadlock Continues

PRELIMINARY discussions at Geneva, with arrangement for London talks to follow between a different set of principals, have given no sign yet of a clearing of the deadlock into which international relations have drifted. It is difficult in this to square Soviet words with Soviet actions: the reiterated talk of democracy and peace, and the very plain refusal to take action which would advance the cause of either at this moment in history. Russia's declaration at Geneva in so far as Korea is concerned is without a single new element after a year's cessation of the fighting there. It is the refusal of co-operation with the United Nations.

Nor does an Indo-China settlement look any closer. There was something akin to open defiance of the United Nations in the manner in which all suggestions leading towards effective discussion of a possible remedy have been turned aside by spokesmen for the Communist side. From no such attitude is any worthwhile degree of co-operation with the western nations likely to come. Meanwhile the deadlock blocks the effort and purpose of the United Nations to bring armed aggression to an end and to establish an atmosphere in which world differences can be abridged in a rational and peaceful manner.

In so far as intent is concerned, the purpose of the Soviet bloc in the present manoeuvre seems to be to capitalize again on discord, and to keep the west continuously involved in a cold war but one degree removed from action. In Korea and Indo-China Russia has stood "officially" aloof, but all of her efforts appear to have been addressed to keeping the internal differences of the two countries alive. By whatever name it is called, Communist obstruction is responsible for these deadlocks, and the intention behind that is not to be hidden behind lip-service to co-operation and peace. The quickest peace would be for the Reds to stop encouraging civil war.



The Shadow

Dominion Decision Wise

THE decision of the federal government to acquire Sea Island airport from Vancouver and to help in construction of Marpole bridge is a wise one and should be beneficial to both parties to the contract. Minister of Transport Chevrier has announced that Ottawa will purchase the airport for $1,000,000, or some $200,000 less than the asked price. Concurrently it is agreed that the government will put up one-third of the cost of the new highway bridge needed to give proper access to the airport, one of the most used in the Canadian west and a landing ground of international importance.

It has long been remarkable that the Dominion left to the major cities of Canada the tremendous initial task of developing landing grounds, outside of the few military airfields established under direct pressure in war. Ever since 1919 Vancouver has borne the brunt of putting B.C. and itself on the air map, establishing air terminal facilities for all-comers, including the nationally-owned airways system, and absorbing considerable loss during early stages of the venture from the operation upkeep of a public airfield. That primarily is not the function of a city, and in these times the improvement of air terminals adequate to the purpose has grown beyond all civic bounds.

Not only in the case of Sea Island, but also elsewhere if the circumstances are alike, it is right that the Dominion should take hold and help to discharge a definite part of the responsibility. Cities are not expected to build and equip rail terminals, boat wharves or any of the appurtenances of transportation, particularly where it is of a nation-wide character. With airports the case is even more direct, because major airfields become international aids and part of the assets of the country. Vancouver has done well to pioneer and maintain Sea Island airport, and to stay in the ring as long as it has done.

Organized Minds

SINCERE congratulations are due to the young men and women who are now passing their undergraduate years in university in British Columbia with honors. The most recent successes have been those at Victoria College, where in first and second years very high standing once more has been established. The results at the parent university with which Victoria College is affiliated will no doubt bear out the same trend. It is an encouraging one. It means that while not all students can rank first or second in their years, numbers of them have gone into their studies with organized minds and a will.

One of the basic functions of university training perhaps is to show young men and women in their formative years that they have minds which will work for them tirelessly and as often as applied. The honors and the clear passes go to students in the main who have absorbed this experience. They are in production mentally and are going concerns. When a young person gets to that stage his value to himself, his comfort to his family and his benefit to the nation enhance very rapidly. The ambitious student is in a fair way to becoming successful at whatever pursuit he may take up with the same determination and purpose.

Not all human intellects shine in an academic environment, however. The world is replete with instances of individuals who won few if any honors at school or college, and yet went on to outstanding achievements in their own way. They were perhaps the exceptions. It is difficult to escape the conclusion that training, tutorship and direction at the right time are tremendous assets in life. University gives that. Victoria College has always had a good name. The most recent results are proof not only of the hard work done on the part of the faculty, but also that the majority of students take their opportunities seriously and are acquiring a sound basis for their lives.

So That's Settled!

IN a world full of questions to which there are few immediate answers to have even one issue settled is something. Take the "mystery mile" between Esher and Cobham, in England, for example. For years it has been a puzzle that was a definite pain in the centre of an intelligent imagination. Why did car windshields break on the "mystery mile" in lonely places and on isolated occasions? Was there a mad sniper in ambush on the route? Was someone playing carelessly, with the occult? Nothing of the kind, it develops. The windshields were made of poor glass and the road is humpy. As simple at that, but it is nice to have it settled and one mystery less.

Interpreting the News

Dulles' Views Explained

BY J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

THE Washington administration has moved swiftly to dispell any impression in France that Secretary Dulles, in discussing Southeast Asian defense possibilities in case Indo-China is lost, was writing off the French campaign.

The French were given one big fillip by the Dulles statement on Tuesday, and received one letdown.

French delegates to the Geneva Conference had been saying that one thing they badly needed, in their effort to bring the Communists to terms on a truce, was a strong indication by the United States that she would intervene if it came to a choice between that and defeat in Indo-China.

Dulles didn't say exactly that. He said in effect, that the United States would intervene if the other countries mentioned would accept her proposal for a new defense pact and go in with her. He hung it specifically on adherence to the pact by Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam, in which case mutual assistance clauses similar to those of the NATO and Western Hemisphere pacts would go into effect.

This would eliminate part of the taint of colonialism with which the United States would be charged if she appeared to be fighting for France rather than directly for the invaded states.

Despite the qualifications, however, the policy enunciated served much stronger notice on the Communists than anything that had gone before. It was a direct plea to the friendly states for a fighting part.

* * *

President Eisenhower picked up the ball at his Wednesday press conference to emphasize the same thing. He also said that any fighting would have to be done for and at the request of the Indo-Chinese states. Without any appearance of direct reference to the French position, though it applied at a very touchy point, he said no nation can be saved to the Free World unless it wants to be saved. It has been obvious for years that a large, if not preponderant, section of Viet Nam public opinion does not want to be saved by France.

Thinking Aloud

Gerald Waring

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings"

By TOM TAYLOR

IF as the graphologist says one's handwriting betrays one's proclivities, then Roger Bannister, in a note to the headmaster of University School five years ago, bespoke his recent spectacular four-minute mile. There is a dashing quality to his penmanship and the signature, "Roger G. Bannister," is bold, carefree and confident.

This letter to J. G. Timmis connects England's prize miler with Victoria even if he has never visited here, although perhaps the Oxonians of this fair town—and there are 40 or 50 of them I believe—may correct this omission when Bannister comes over for the BE Games in Vancouver. It was written when he was president of the Oxford University Athletic Club.

* * *

A few years ago a Victoria lady with a penchant for buying ancient treasures picked up a clothes basket full of old knicknacks. Among the collection were a number of diaries and a record book that seemed to have something to do with Oxford University, and knowing the University School head to be an Oxford man she got in touch with him.

He quickly identified the record book as the founding minutes of the OUAC. It had been in the possession of an Oxonian named Laing, who once lived here, and who was the first secretary of that now well-known athletic club.

The book recorded the original meeting of the club in 1860, the dues paid and the officers elected. There were other notes of interest.

For instance, one about the proctors, those moralists who keep Oxford students in line. These gentlemen took a dim view of this new venture; the idea of students organizing themselves merely to run about shocked their mid-Victorian sensibilities.

But the show went on. The first athletic meeting was held, including a donkey race and a two-mile hurdle event. There were no tracks in those days so the students ran across country, much to the annoyance of angry farmers who had to be appeased by two cases of port and four dozen cigars, costing in all four guineas.

* * *

Later entries in the Laing book tell of the students' first experience with a professional athlete—that "curious individual" as they called him. One bright undergraduate hired him as his trainer, to such good effect he won the mile race with ease—and while wearing black tights!

A forerunner of Bannister, you see, although white shorts have long since superseded black tights.

This record book Mr. Timmis sent to his old university, knowing how valuable it would be to the athletic club. As it happened the OUAC had scant written trace of its first 20 years of existence and as Bannister made clear in his letter of acknowledgment the club was delighted to get the book "which has strayed so far from its home."

For the 40 or 50 Oxonians in the Victoria area, even if some of them were river men or cricketers rather than runners, this link with their university should be of more than casual interest.

Reports from Ottawa

THE Canadian government is outwardly calm and composed following the United States Congress' approval of the Wiley bill for American participation in the St. Lawrence Seaway.

If the Congress had taken this action 10 or 12 years ago the government would have been jubilant.

What Prime Minister St. Laurent said in his statement to the House of Commons on the subject last week was matched in significance by what he didn't say.

He said "the government's position has not changed" as a result of congressional action, "and we are still prepared to undertake alone the construction of the seaway."

He said "the government still is willing to discuss any specific proposal the U.S. government might wish to put forward" providing that "such discussions do not delay either the power or the seaway projects."

What he did not say, and apparently carefully refrained from saying, is that Canada either welcomes or regrets the American action. He was merely non-committal on this point.

* * *

It wouldn't have been politic from the viewpoint of good relations with the U.S. for the Canadian prime minister to have publicly regretted the increased likelihood that the seaway will be built as a joint Canadian-American project.

But since Mr. St. Laurent didn't seize the opportunity to hail the Congress' action as a splendid, if belated, example of international co-operation, the conclusion is almost inescapable that he does regret that Canada won't be "going it alone" on the seaway.

In the past year Trade Minister Howe, Transport Minister Chevrier and Public Works Minister Winters have made it clear at different times that they favored an all-Canadian waterway on the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence, rather than a joint project. The CCF party also publicly took this position.

Last week Mr. St. Laurent only smiled — rather tightly, I thought — when Conservative leader George Drew said: "I am certain that every member of this house will welcome the decision of the U.S. House of Representatives." He did not applaud the Tory leader's remarks.

* * *

Originally Canada sought to enlist U.S. participation to share the construction costs. As the Canadian economy expanded in the last few years, it became increasingly apparent Canada could finance the whole seaway single-handedly, and enjoy the advantages of sole control of the waterway.

For example, if Canada alone set the tolls, they could be weighted to apply more heavily on iron ore destined for the U.S. and less heavily on Canadian wheat moving down the St. Lawrence. In a joint project, and despite the fact that U.S. would pay only about one-third of the seaway cost, the U.S. probably could successfully demand an equal voice with Canada in deciding toll rates.

Of course, the U.S. isn't in yet so far as Canada is concerned. There's been no official approach from the U.S. administration yet—but one is a foregone conclusion once the Wiley bill is law. And it's generally agreed here that no matter how strongly Canada might prefer an all-Canadian seaway, the government and Parliament at Ottawa will be stopped by practical considerations of Canadian-American relations from refusing to acquiesce to any reasonable U.S. proposal which would not unduly delay the project.

The Force of Tradition

(From The Times, London)

AT some period in the 19th century May Day grew suddenly old. It ceased to be a time when children danced and made garlands, and became an occasion when men and women marched through the city streets to protest. These long marching columns were to be seen again on Saturday and Sunday, from Peking to London, from Calcutta to Berlin. But the origin of this custom has by now become for most of the marchers as remote and obscure as the origin of the maypole. The Socialists who chose the first of May as a day for international celebrations belonged to an age when organized labor was often oppressed. Then the goal of "emancipation" was seemingly clear. Today most countries of the world have known what it is to have governments which profess to follow Socialism or Communism. The taste of emancipation is familiar. Why go on marching?

Some, of course, march because they are told to. Almost every authoritarian government has transformed what began as a ceremony of international criticism into a display of national pride. In Communist countries new weapons and, occasionally, new leaders are on view at the May Day parade, which is the occasion (as it was in Nazi Germany) for vast crowds and speech-making. As in these countries the rulers are above criticism, the original spirit of protest can be maintained only by directing it against other governments. Hence the abuse which, after the war as well as before it, has flown across the frontiers on this spring day.

But in countries where thought is free, where men and policies can be attacked any day of the week, how can public protests on this one particular day of the year be given their special flavor? When your wish was for the vote or an eight-hour working day there was much to be said for an organized demonstration to impress your wants on the ministers. But today the decisions which will change the course of the world are being made by the shores of a Swiss lake and by little committees in distant capitals. The crowds which wind through the streets carrying their slogans are conforming to a traditional routine—like morris dancing.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

EVERY hotel room in the land has a bureau in it with three to five drawers, and a chiffonier or high chest of drawers that may have five or six drawers, not to mention two small ones on top.

Does anybody, ever, use these drawers?

Does anybody, even on a four or five-day visit, unpack his or her underwear, hose, shirts, slips and so forth, and disperse them tidily in the bureau and chiffonier as they would at home?

On a recent cross country trip on which we stayed at hotels from two to five days as a rule, my wife and I questioned the maids on this matter.

"I have never really seen anybody use the drawers," admitted the majority of them. "And I've rately seen evidence, like the fresh paper lining of the drawers being disturbed, that they are used. If anybody uses them, they are these professional travellers who like to keep everything tidy in their travelling bags.

"As a rule, most guests unpack their suits or dresses and hang them in the cupboard. They leave all the small stuff right in their bags, sitting on the little luggage benches at the foot of the beds. But these pernickety travellers, even overnight guests, will occasionally unpack everything and put it in the drawers, as if to air their luggage. It is almost as if they enjoyed packing and unpacking. But they are awfully few in number."

It is somehow eerie to think of all those thousands upon thousands of bureaus and chiffoniers all across the land, all over the continent, millions of dollars worth of them, standing week after week, month after month, year after year. Think of the old ones, the furniture that has stood 20, 30 years in the hotel rooms of the world, nothing but a formality, an ornament, a conventionality, an empty pretense.

Our bureaus and dressers at home have experienced as full a life as we have; packed with the changing values and contents of our lives as we were young, or grew old; bulging with the ever changing fashions, even of our underwear, filling, as with silt, with the trinkety accumulation of our years and theirs.

But for hotel furniture, how hollow is life.

Little Pentagon

(From The Edmonton Journal)

THE Currie investigation last year does not seem to have damped the National Defense Department's enthusiasm for spending public money. This is shown by descriptions of the "little pentagon" which the department is building to house its military mission in Washington.

Although Canada is far from being the largest or wealthiest nation represented at the U.S. capital, no other country will have such a big and costly building for its defense staff there. Features include carved doorways, a lobby lined with Italian marble, bronze elevator doors and a basement garage designed to hold "scores of cars." It even has its own air raid shelter though the value of this "modern improvement" seems a little problematical in these H-bomb days. Present estimate of the cost is $2,000,000, but this figure may well be exceeded, in the best tradition of building contracts.

Canada has a considerable army, navy and air force establishment in Washington, and no doubt needs a substantial and presentable building to house it. But is all this Babylonian grandeur really necessary? It will be most unfortunate if Canadian representatives abroad should feel that they have to outbuild all other countries in foreign capitals.

"Our men will be proud of this building," one army colonel is quoted as saying. The only person who has any right to be proud of it is the Canadian taxpayer — and he wasn't consulted.

ERNIE'S TIME UP!

In his book "Government and Parliament," Mr. Herbert Morrison describes the complex procedure by which the House of Commons opens a debate.

"No wonder," he sums up, "that my old friend Ernest Bevin, when Foreign Secretary, who was perfectly frank about his relative lack of knowledge of parliamentary procedure, would say either to myself or to the Chief Whip, 'I can't understand all this, so tell me when I've got to get up,' and at the right point we would dig him in the ribs and say, 'Up you go, Ernie,' and up he went."

Mr. Hills Wrong?

The Rev. William Hills, in your Sunday, May 9s issue, tells of the caddish conduct of high school boys and girls on a bus, describing how they hustled and jostled old age pensioners, including a blind man, and denied them seats. To be quite fair I think the reverend gentleman should have made mention of the bus route, the place, the date and approximate time when [illegible] these details his story is hard to swallow. I note he mentions his own considerate conduct.

I am turned 60 and I have ridden on the buses and trams of Victoria for 20 years, and I have found high school boys and girls well mannered and ready to give up their seats to the aged and infirm.

Against Fluoridation

The question is asked "Is fluoridation a racket?" Well, promotion schemes designed to fleece the public are as old as the hills. They cover every sort of organization from friendly raffle to national enterprise, among which charity and religious projects rank high. No suffering or disaster, however heart-rending, will deter these high-pressure salesmen. That is only grist to their mill.

Take Time Magazine's report of the Disabled American Veterans' Federation, for instance, who collected $21,480,000 over a period of three years. Promoters and their henchmen ate it all up. Not one cent went for the direct aid of a needy veteran.

Such things happen in Canada too. There were several promotion scandals during the last war perpetrated upon those who survived the blitz in Britain who had lost relatives, home, treasures and everything but what they stood up in. Victorians who were substantial contributors will remember one which totaled over three quarters of a million dollars, out of which less than quarter of 1 per cent was left for distribution to the distressed and destitute.

These, of course, are charitable examples. Business rackets are supposed to be even more numerous and villainous. On this premise fluoridation is suspect. A chemical analysis has already put two strikes against it as being detrimental to the public health.

Festival Coverage

I should like to express my appreciation of the policy of your paper in giving such good coverage to the activities of the Victoria Musical Festival. I am not in any way connected with the musical festival and am only writing as a private individual who is devoted to the cause of the best in music. I feel that the festival movement greatly helps this cause and moreover, perhaps, what is more important, does much for the character and outlook of our young people who take part.

May I also pay tribute to the talents of your reporter Bert Binnie who did such an excellent job in giving very intelligent and interesting reviews of the various sessions.

Widows' Pensions

Mr. C. S. Brockington's letter entitled "Pensions Denied" reminds one that veterans' widows are also aware that the government can become very remote about pensions claims, when they become tangled with material possessions or even age.

The progress of medical science is acknowledged, but when a veteran's war medical file reveals serious chest wounds in war time, and the veteran dies of heart disorder when he is over 60 years of age, his widow is reminded that he was over 60, disregarding the fact that the heart is the last to admit defeat.

A case such as referred is dismissed with the words, not sufficient evidence. One refuses to be trapped into believing that this remote approach to war pensions claims is Canadian justice.

Answers Mr. Chant

In reply to Mr. Chant, MLA, I was amazed that a member of the local Legislature should be so devoid of understanding of the fundamental laws of capitalism.

Mr. Chant says "Production should be left free and required only to carry the cost of production." He is trotting out that old fallacy of "A plus B" theorem which divides the payments into two groups: A, payment of wages, salaries and dividends; and B, payments to organizations for raw material, bank charges, etc., claiming that only A payments pass on purchasing power to individuals, that A cannot balance A plus B, hence the shortage of purchasing power. Is it not a fact that all moneys paid to B organizations for raw materials pays out wages, charges, etc., exactly the same as the A payments?

Mr. Chant, referring to the high cost of living, says, "my economic logic and reasoning is unsound." Allow me to say there are three factors responsible for this condition: 1. The fall of the value of gold; 2. The high cost of production; 3. the law of supply and demand.

Some years ago the U.S.A. took around 49 per cent of gold out of the dollar, raising the price to $35 an ounce. This in itself about doubled the cost of all commodities. Great Britain, through the same process, reduced the value of the pound to $3. Since that time a new electric process of smelting and refining gold has come into use, which is again reducing the value of gold, causing prices to rise again.

Second, the workers have been compelled to demand more and more dollars to meet the rising cost of living, which in turn means a higher cost of production.

Third, for several years now huge factories with modern machinery have been built to produce large stores of defence weapons, etc.

Animal Question Box

Columns Will Discuss Rabbits, Chinchillas

BY ROBERT MAGGS

I have had so many letters and phone calls about the rabbits and chinchillas on display at the fair last week that I have promised to devote a column to each of them, one next week [illegible] week I am very much snowed under with questions. I had a talk with H. B. Dawson about the chinchilla he raises, and also received an invitation to visit him at his place on Douglas Street. About the rabbits, I spoke to Miss P. M. Baker, Mrs. Gordon Ash, Mrs. Alex Walker and Stan Hunt of the V.I. Rabbit Breeder's Association. Also have an invitation to visit them and see how the rabbits are taken care of and raised. So, all you who are interested, watch the next two columns for information.

I know of a beautiful well-marked Alsatian male, 18 months old, looking for a good home in the country. He likes children but will not tolerate being pushed around, so if a child pulls his ears or annoys him he says (as Jan B. would say): "Look Buster, cut that out." He won't cost you anything, but must go to a good home. For details, call R. G. Chungranes 3-6659.

And my one-time next door neighbor, "Joey," is looking for a home. His owner had to go to Halifax and is unable to have Joey there too. Joey is the friendly type, used to children, part labrador but mostly "just dog," about two years old. For more details, call 2-1668.

It takes all kinds to make a world, and in the world all kinds of people own animals. I have a letter from a writer who sends me a line every month or so—not often enough—and, she states that a neighbor of theirs deliberately brings her dog from her own property over to their boulevard for the purpose of doing his business. They have talked to the owner but to no avail. What to do?

A. I do not know what the legal angle is on such a thing but you could ask at the police station. Don't be afraid to go in and ask. Even though they can get tough when needs be, they are still human. Failing being able to prevent her legally, call me (after 6 p.m.) at 2-5926 and I will try to think of something else. Perhaps I'll talk to the dog that'd fix it.

Mr. L.M. asks: Do all fish have scales, and could you tell me something about them.

A. This question is asked quite frequently, especially at the beginning of the fishing season. Must be that people want to catch fish that do not need descaling. The answer is "no." Catfish, for instance, have no scales at all. And all fish are born without scales, as naked of scales as a robin is of feathers. You can tell the age of a fish by the ring markings on the scales, also by the concentric rings on the fish's earbones, much as you can tell the age of a tree by its rings.

Mr. M.S. Is it true that elephants live to be 200 or 300 years old?

A. No. It is very seldom that they live to be 100 years old. Most elephants are pretty decrepit by the time they are 50 or 60.

Mr. K.B. (Tacoma). Why is a horse called a "diagonal runner" and what does that mean and also what is a "rotary runner," if there if such a thing?

A. They are so called because of the sequence in which the feet are placed on the ground. Diagonal sequence is: left forefoot, right forefoot, left hindfoot, right hindfoot. Also diagonal runners are cows and bears. A rotary runner's sequence is: left forefoot, left hindfoot, right hindfoot, right forefoot. Among these are any of the deer and antelope, dogs and foxes.

[illegible] giraffes are altogether mute?

A. No, it is not. They were once supposed to be, and that fact is still mentioned in many books. But they do have voices. They utter a lowing and mooing sound like the soft version of the voices of cattle.

I see that the Island Dog Fanciers are having a dog show this Friday and Saturday, in the Curling Rink on Quadra Street. And the SPCA will have a booth there also. I shall be there, hope to see you, too.

000 damage in the Interior mining centre, already may have reached its peak, according to the district engineer.

Mr. Jones instructed the district engineer to use his own judgment in flood preparations and to work with local authorities.

Steady, warm rains were falling yesterday over much of the province and caused rapid rises in the Columbia, Kootenay, Thompson and Similkameen Rivers. Officials warn that either prolonged heat or heavy rains will aggravate the situation.

Meanwhile, an emergency flood committee has been set up at New Westminster where Mayor Fred Jackson was authorized to protect Lulu Island if the Fraser River should overflow its banks in the low-lying areas.

Water comptroller E. H. Tredcroft warned of a "serious flood threat," particularly in the Columbia and Kootenay basins, earlier this month when the monthly snow bulletin was published.

Subsequently the situation seemed to be easing a little until yesterday's rains renewed the threat and caused the first of what may be a number of more serious floods.

Senator Sees March To War

ATLANTIC CITY, N. (CP)—Senator Wayne Morse (Ind., Ore.) said Wednesday the foreign policy of the Eisenhower administration is "marching straight to war."

Morse, who quit the Republican party during the 1952 election campaign, told the annual convention of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (CIO) that the Republican party is becoming a "war party" under the leadership of Eisenhower, State Secretary Dulles and Admiral Arthur W. Eat and Grow Younger

Less Salt Should Help When You Can't Sleep

This is another in a series of daily articles from the best-selling book, "Eat and Grow Younger," which provides dramatic information on nutrition, and one of the simplest and most effective of diets. By following the tenets set out here, you can literally eat and grow younger.

BY LELORD KORDEL

For the purposes of your Eat and Grow Younger program, I shall present here the nutritional side of preventing, or combatting, insomnia—one of the most relentless foes of your efforts to stay young.

Before I tell you the foods that induce sleep, let me name two offenders that can bring on insomnia—too much starch and too much common table salt. (I pass quickly over alcohol, coffee and tobacco as items that can keep your nerves keyed up.)

Dr. Michael M. Miller, associate physician of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D.C., tested a treatment consisting wholly of reducing the amount of table salt in the diet to the correct proportion.

Every food we eat already contains an adequate portion of natural salts from the earth. Under normal conditions, our bodies use less than five grams of salt a day. (Bear in mind that "salt" does not necessarily mean sodium chloride, which is the chemical term for common table salt.) Yet most people consume between 10 and 30 grams of sodium chloride a day, in addition to the natural salts in the foods they eat.

The patients studied in Dr. Miller's experiment were allowed only half a gram to two grams of table salt daily. All of the 20 patients were suffering from insomnia and nervous tension.

BETTER IN WEEK

After no longer than a week on this low salt diet, the patients began showing signs of the desirable physical tiredness which must take place at the end of the waking hours to balance mental tension before sleep can quiet the body. Within this comparatively short time, these confirmed insomniacs were able to fall asleep within 15 minutes or so after getting into bed.

Three of the 20 insomniacs did not respond satisfactorily. I would have liked to have tried an experiment of my own with those three. In addition to restricting the amount of table salt in their diets, I would have added liberal amount of calcium, lactic acid, vitamin C and vitamin B complex, particularly thiamin.

So convinced am I that this combination of a low-salt diet with a diet rich in calcium, lactic acid, vitamin C and thiamin will restore the proper balance to the chemistry of sleep that I urge anyone troubled with stubborn insomnia, to try for himself this safe dietary experiment.

The chemistry of the blood stream has been so expertly worked out by nature that the blood flowing through your body is intended to be equipped for taking care of any bodily function, including that of sleep.

SLEEP CENTRE

The sleeping and waking of your body is controlled by a complex mechanism in the depths of your brain, known as the sleep centre. Every time your brain sends out an action message to a muscle via a nerve, certain chemical substances are secreted at the point of contact between the nerve and the muscles that are to go into action. One of the substances liberated is calcium. During your waking hours, various muscles are continually being stimulated. This means that a lot of calcium is being liberated from the contact points between nerves and muscles. And all this calcium passes into the bloodstream, finally reaching the sleep centre of your brain.

When enough calcium has been carried to the sleep centre, your conscious brain ceases to send out nerve impulses to your muscles. In other words, you have fallen asleep.

The sleep centre must be "sensitized" by special fatigue substances, such as lactic acid, before it can react to the influence of the calcium.

Therefore, your bloodstream must contain enough calcium plus enough lactic acid before the sleep centre makes you go to sleep.

SEDENTARY TYPE

All the victims of sleeplessness whom I have observed are persons whose mental activity far overbalances their muscular activity. This means that not enough calcium and lactic acid are released into the blood stream by hard-working muscles. And when to this systemic lack of calcium and lactic acid is added the further sin of meals seriously deficient in mineral calcium and the lactic acid, how can the average sedentary person living on an unbalanced diet expect to sleep as nature intended he should.

Buttermilk, yogurt and cottage cheese made from soured milk are rich in both calcium and lactic acid. To round out your diet for a good night's rest, you must not overlook the B-vitamins, especially thiamin. When you don't get enough thiamin (vitamin B-1) in your diet, you may become overly conscious of every twist and turn that it's normal for your sleeping body to make during the night.

These are some of the foods rich in thiamin: seed cereals, particularly sunflower seeds and millet, whole grain, eggs, chicken, fish roe, sardines, codfish, lean beef and mutton, liver, kidney, heart and brains.

Indigestion (that includes constipation) is another well-known cause of broken sleep—another reason why high starch meals for the person past 40 are likely to interrupt the natural sleep cycle.

A generous intake of vitamin C helps prevent your blood vessels from losing tone and impairing the circulation to the sleep centre of your brain.

So let's have more emphasis on the body's chemical elements of sleep—calcium, lactic acid, thiamin and vitamin C—and less promoting of the extremely dangerous phenobarbital and bromide sleeping tablets. Sleep should be natural, not drugged.

Jail Contract Awarded

Contract for a new Prince George jail was awarded by the provincial government yesterday after tenders had been held up because they exceeded estimates.

The Marpole Construction Co. of Vancouver was awarded the contract with a bid of $550,700.

An official of the public works department said the awarding of the contract was delayed when it was found all bids were higher than estimates. After a review of specifications, the department decided to accept the Marpole bid.

The new jail will house 90 prisoners.

Large Group From Seattle To Visit City

Victoria will host about 500 delegates of the American Water Works Association who are making a one-day visit here May 28 from their convention city of Seattle.

A. S. G. Musgrave, an outgoing chairman of the Pacific Northwest section of the association, said yesterday the visitors will arrive from Seattle by steamer, lunch at the Empress Hotel and visit Butchart's Gardens before returning aboard a CPR ferry.

SPECIAL LUNCHEON

The convention, to be attended by Greater Victoria municipal delegates, begins May 23 and will include a luncheon for delegates from Canada.

The AWWA sets standards and specifications for pipes, fittings and other materials in waterworks projects. The convention will include both technical and practical demonstrations of equipment.

Aged Duchess Dies In Fairy-Tale Castle

KLAGENFURT, Austria (CP) — The Duchess Melanie Khevenhueller, 94, died Tuesday in her many-towered castle of Hockosterwitz, which provided Walt Disney with the inspiration for his castle in the movie "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Sunday Services Honor Battle of Atlantic Heroes

More than 1,500 officers and men from the ships and establishments of the Royal Canadian Navy's Pacific Command will attend memorial services in Victoria on Sunday, commemorating the Battle of the Atlantic.

Throughout the country special services will be held honoring the men who fought in merchant and naval ships for 68 long months to keep the vital sea lines of communication open during the Second World War.

Battle of the Atlantic services will be held in Victoria in Christ Church Cathedral and St. Andrew's Cathedral.

Families of naval personnel, representatives of the merchant service, veterans' organizations, Navy League, Naval Officers' Association in Canada and Seamen's Institute also will attend.

Chaplain H. Ploughman, RCN, and Chaplain E. A. Pegler, RCN, will conduct services in Christ Church Cathedral. The sermon will be preached by Chaplain H. R. Pike, RCN.

In St. Andrew's Cathedral Rev. Father J. P. Farrell, RCN, will preach the sermon and Benediction will be given by Rev. Father J. A. Eves, RCN.

The memorial services will be in addition to regular services.

Naval personnel will not parade to churches. They will be carried in fleet transport vehicles.

In addition to local religious services the CBC has scheduled a special commemorative program entitled "Tell Your Children," to be heard Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The program will feature eye-witness accounts of events recorded during the Second World War.

Writer Blasted In Court

NEW YORK (AP) — Columnist Westbrook Pegler's lawyer lit into writer Quentin Reynolds Tuesday as "a yellow coward . . . an absentee war correspondent."

"He covered the Casablanca landing from London," said Charles Henry, Pegler's counsel. "He covered the Sicily landing from Palestine and he covered the Normandy landing from Hollywood."

The opening remarks to a federal court jury indicated a no-holds-barred battle in Reynold's $500,000 libel suit against the Hearst newspapers' columnist.

Reynolds' lawyer, Louis Nizer, questioned Pegler's own First World War record as a warrior and promised to "put Pegler under a microscope."

The libel charge grew out of a Pegler column of November 29, 1949.

In it, Pegler wrote that Reynolds was "a yellow coward . . . an absentee war correspondent . . . a nudist and a Russian propagandist."

"We don't have to apologize to anybody," lawyer Henry said of the column.

Nizer told a jury of four women and eight men he is prepared to back up Reynolds' Second World War experiences under fire with depositions from such military figures as Admiral Earl Mountbatten.

As the first witness, Reynolds testified that as a Second World War correspondent he was under bomb attack many times, was under Nazi shellfire in France, voyaged aboard a British ship that sought to decoy Nazi planes within range of its guns, and was the last American correspondent out of Paris before it fell to the Germans.

Missing Boy's Body Found in Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Steve Pacholok, 8, missing from his home for two weeks, was found dead Wednesday on Toronto's eastern waterfront. Authorities said his skull had apparently been fractured in a fall.

The boy's body, a 15-foot length of rope loosely knotted around the waist, was spotted by two workmen. Police said they are satisfied the boy's death was accidental and there was no foul play.

The afternoon branch of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mary's, Oak Bay, will meet on Thursday at 2:30 p.m. in the parish hall.

Sharing Urged In Civil Defense

The United States government will be urged to allow Canadian civil defense experts to participate in all major U.S. defense schemes, including the next atom bomb test at Yucca Flats, Arizona.

The Far Western Association of Civil Defense Directors passed a recommendation to that effect in closing sessions of a two-day meeting in Victoria.

British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan are associate members of the organization, which includes eight U.S. states and four Pacific territories.

The association elected as president, Col. A. M. Sheets, Portland, Ore., with Col. Alvin Sessions, Salt Lake City, vice-president.

Major-General W. M. Robertson, California civil defense director, was re-elected an officer of the U.S. Federal Civil Defense Administration, representing the western region.

De Castries Waited In Full Uniform

HONG KONG (AP) — The Vietminh radio said Wednesday Vietminh troops who captured French headquarters at Dien Bien Phu found Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries sitting in a chair behind his desk in full military dress, including medals.

De Castries commanded the defense of the fallen Indo-Chinese fortress against the Communist-led rebel attack.

The rebel broadcast, heard in Hong Kong, said the French put up a stubborn resistance.

At Geneva, a rumor that de Castries would be tried as a war criminal by the Vietminh Communist rebels was called "absolutely without foundation" by a Vietminh spokesman.

Viet Nam Proposal Widens Geneva Gap

GENEVA (Reuters) — The East-West deadlock over Korea extended to Indo-China Wednesday as Viet Nam unveiled a peace program even more stringent than the French plan.

At the same time, Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai underscored the deep cleavage on both Korea and Indo-China by demanding once again that the West adopt a "hands off" policy in Asia and let the Asian states form their own collective security pact.

Viet Namese Foreign Minister Nguyen Quoc Dinh told the nine-power Indo-China peace conference in its third session that free elections in his country should be held under United Nations auspices as soon as the authority of Bao Dai's regime is firmly established as Viet Nam's only legitimate government.

The Vietminh rebel proposal Monday called for the two rival regimes of Viet Nam to arrange elections free of "foreign intervention."

SAME FORMULA

This is virtually the same formula proposed by the Communists for all-Korean elections whereas the West has insisted on elections supervised by the UN in both Korea and Indo-China.

In face of the deadlock on Indo-China, Foreign Secretary Eden of Britain tried his best Wednesday to find a straw of hope.

Addressing the conference briefly, he said: "As I understand it, we are all agreed that the first step is to get the fighting stopped in an orderly manner. If that is so, a number of questions arise which require urgent answers."

He touched then on the new questions where there was a chance of agreement in the rival peace plans. These included:

Concentration of troops on both sides in determined areas.

Placing of Laos and Cambodia, the other two states of Indo-China, in a special category and Vietminh's possible withdrawal from them.

Agreement on naming the authorities to arrange for the areas of troop concentration.

A settlement on the question disarming irregular rebel forces.

Agreement after this step on of international supervision of elections.

KOREA AGAIN

Today the conference will return to the Korean issue. It will resume the Indo-Chinese discussions Friday.

Overshadowing the harassing debate on Indo-China here is the confidence vote today in Paris on Premier Joseph Laniel's wobbling government. Laniel may fall because of his refusal to accept a debate in parliament on Indo-China policy during the Geneva conference.

Two Chances Gone For Doomed Author

SAN QUENTIN (UP) — Convict author Caryl Chessman has suffered two more blows in his last-ditch fight to escape death in the gas chamber tomorrow, his attorney and prison authorities disclosed Wednesday.

Attorney Berwyn A. Rice said Chessman was interviewed for 75 minutes Wednesday night by a San Rafael psychiatrist and was again ruled "legally sane."

Rice said Dr. Samuel Anderson, who examined Chessman at the request of Warden Harley O. Teets, classed the doomed kidnap-rapist as a psychopath but "legally sane because he understood the difference between right and wrong."

Chessman also underwent an electroencephalogram test which the attorney hoped would show long-standing brain damage stemming from a childhood attack of encephalitis. But this test also went against him.

Warden Teets announced Wednesday that the electrical test showed Chessman's brain was "normal" with "no evidence or organic disorders, epilepsy or focal pathology."

Rice hoped the test would prove injury, thus giving him a strong lever to force a stay of execution.

Chessman's last hope now rests with Gov. Goodwin Knight who Tuesday agreed to review the kidnaper's trial once more with an eye to whether the transcript was faulty.

A PADRE IN PRINT

BY REV. WILLIAM HILLS

He was a pleasant enough young chap, but as he sat facing me in my study, he wore a very troubled expression.

A knock had come on the door that night, and when I opened it, there he was standing somewhat shyly on the threshold.

"Could I see you a moment, Reverend?" he asked.

"Certainly," I replied. "Won't you come in?"

When we had broken down that curious barrier which civilized human beings throw about themselves by an avalanche of small talk about the weather and Dien Bien Phu, he came directly to the point.

"Would you marry me (sic) Reverend?"

Now, although I had heard that curious idiom many times and knew, of course, what it meant, I couldn't help making the remark that that was a strange proposition to put to a strange parson.

* * *

But that was not the reason for his concern.

After I had given his situation my attention, I was forced by conscience and common sense to give a definite "No" to his request.

He didn't take my answer at all easily. He was quite indignant and brandished his license about as if it had the power of a subpoena commanding the services of the clergyman to whom it was presented.

It has been my experience that a good many sincere and honest citizens feel that a marriage license has that sort of authority.

Actually, it is a permission granted by the province for two people to seek either an ordained minister of religion or a marriage commissioner before whom to undertake their vows.

It assures the parson or the commissioner that so far as the province is concerned, all things required by the Marriage Act have been satisfied by the principals seeking marriage, and that the completed ceremony will be considered valid and legally binding.

Whatever a marriage license may be, it is not a command from the provincial secretary for each and any clergyman to solemnize the marriage of any couple of whom he may have scruples of conscience, propriety or religion.

In this particular instance, there were—to me—three obstacles.

First, both the principals were strangers to me.

Second, the ceremony was to be performed in three days.

Third, the pleasant young man had no religious background whatsoever. He did not know if he had been baptized. He belonged to no church. He could not even recite the Lord's Prayer. He called himself merely a "Protestant."

Now, do not think that I sat in judgment upon him. My heart went out to him but how could I take him before the altar of God, ask him to undertake most solemn vows in the name of God, under those circumstances?

I would have been, in very truth, a stinking hypocrite!

As we talked the matter over, with a cup of coffee in our hands, I ventured to suggest that such a wonderful thing as marriage to the girl he loved was worthy of the greatest consideration and preparation.

Perhaps he would be willing to think over the things we had talked about.

At any rate, when he rose to go, he reached out to shake my hand.

I hope he'll come knocking on the door of the rectory again, with the girl of his choice on his arm and with a decision for God in his heart.

Saanich Holding Truckers' Class

Registration has opened at Saanich police station for a truck-driving safety course to be held in the municipality.

It will be similar to the one held recently at Colwood by the RCMP detachment there, which attracted more than 200 drivers.

The course will last from four classes on such subjects as gas and diesel engines, electrical circuit theory and air brakes.

Exams complete the course, with government certificates being awarded to successful entrants.

Now touring up-Island to organize courses in other areas are chief inspector of railways, Robert Swanson and Corporal Joe Sheppherd of Colwood [illegible] to visit Duncan, Nanaimo, Port Albernie and Courtenay.

Have you ever dreamed the day would arrive when you could go to a track meet, purchase a form chart, and bet through the mutuels on the trackman of your choice?

Silly? Could be, but while foot racing is never likely to ever rival horse racing in popularity as a gambling medium, [illegible] race has all but arrived. At least, it has all but arrived in Australia, that sports-mad island continent where an argument between a couple of budgie birds would draw.

Herb McKenley, the Jamaican sprint star who turned professional in the twilight of a great career to run in Australia last winter, brought back word of the rather phenomenal success of foot racing as a professional sport. Crowds as large as 40,000 turned out with the average somewhere between 15,000 and 20,000. The big interest, of course, was betting and there was plenty of that with both athletes and spectators taking part. It was handled by bookies last winter but there's serious talk about that pari-mutuels will be installed by next winter.

There was some good competition, too. McKenley won the world's professional sprint championship by winning the 100, 130 and 220-yard races and placing third in the 75-yard dash. His times were 9.6 seconds for the 100 yards, 12.1 for the 130 yards and 21.4 for the 220 yards—and with all races run on grass tracks.

But there wasn't enough good competition and McKenley is in the United States on a recruiting mission. He hopes to induce a number of outstanding trackmen to sign professional contracts so that there will be full fields in Australia next winter. As an argument, McKenley can point to his own financial success. In four months running 114 times including heats and quarter and semi-finals, in 122 days—he earned $5,300. That's not chicken feed, particularly to fellows who usually have to hock their prizes or pad their expense accounts to make an extra buck while running before good crowds for the benefit of the Amateur Athletic Union. However, I'd hardly go as far as to say that pari-mutuel foot racing is here to stay. It's tough enough to try and puzzle out what a horse is liable to do but wait until these bettors have an experience or two trying to figure form on homo sapiens. They'll go back to old Dobbin.

Random Harvest

Well, it looks as if Victoria lacrosse fans have another champion on their hands this season. The Shamrocks were a bit ragged in spots last night and their passing could stand a little brushing up but there is no question of the talent there. The club has goal-scoring ability, fine goaling, an improved defense and, for the first time, a bit of size. . . . It's to be hoped that the powers in charge of such things will refund part of the amusement tax on the exhibition soccer game between Glasgow Rangers and Victoria. It's tough enough to get a crowd big enough to bring such an outstanding team here without having to give 15 per cent of the take to the government, particularly as any profits go towards the development of minor soccer. . . . Incidentally, Scots are rallying in Victoria for the big match from all over. So far, 20 tickets have been sold to Portlanders and there has been an order or two from San Francisco. And at least 30 Vancouver fans will take a look at the Rangers here. . . . Granny Gladstone was hitting .258 in latest available Coast League averages but there is only a fair chance he will yet wind up with the Tyees. It probably depends on whether or not Portland is able to get a player or two from the major leagues. The Beavers should know by tonight, cut-down time in the big leagues. . . . Roger Bannister's great mile run the other day came after 4.03 had been broken five times since 1952—by Bannister, John Landy, Wes Santee, Gaston Reiff and Ingvar Erikson. Which all goes to prove that these things come in cycles. When Gunder Haegg set the old standard of 4.01.4 in 1945, his effort came at a time when Arne Anderson, Rune Persson, Syd Wooderson and Rune Gustaffson were getting close to that elusive four-minute time. . . . Just a little note for baseball fans: Available at Hagar & Swayne are limited numbers of a 40-page booklet which contains complete schedules of major and Coast League games and considerable other diamond information. They're there on a first-come first-served basis . . . and for those who wondered, Mrs. Maxine Curtis was the winner of the Tyees' guessing competition at the B.C. Products Fair. The number of peanuts in the jar was 1,111 and she missed it by 18.

GUESSING DEPARTMENT: The Shamrocks in tonight's Inter-City Lacrosse League play, Sudbury to win the Allan Cup, Edmonton Oil Kings to win their first game in the Memorial Cup, and Calgary Stampeders to win the Duke of Edinburgh Trophy. Giants, Dodgers, Phillies and Braves in the National League and the White Sox, Yanks, Indians, and Orioles in the American. Batting average to date: At bat 275, hits 191, percentage .695.

Mild-Mannered Jackie Loses His Temper

Victoria Shamrocks' Jackie Northup is a player who seldom loses his temper but he got a bit angry at Memorial Arena last night when roughed up by Arnie Duggan of Nanaimo Native Sons. Cameraman Jim Ryan snapped picture just before Northup (in centre with stick high and obviously displeased) took out after Duggan (No. 4). That's Nanaimo goalie Fred Fulla on his knees. Sons' Jim Heffernan at left and Earl Bennie alongside Duggan. Both Northup and Duggan drew penalties for bit of high-sticking which followed. Total of 84 minutes in penalties were served, 45 by Nanaimo. Rocks won, 16-4.

BY JIM TANG

About 5,000 lacrosse fans showed up at Memorial Arena last night to see for themselves if Nanaimo Native Sons are likely to be any threat for Inter-City Lacrosse League honors this season and also to get their first look at the real 1954 Victoria Shamrocks.

When it was all over, with the Shamrocks as superior as the 16-4 score would indicate, most of them must have formed at least four definite opinions.

First, on what they showed last night, coming as it did after two previous unimpressive displays, the Sons are going to need more help if they are to improve their fourth place finish of last season.

Second, the Rocks with Jack Bionda, Hugh Sibbald and Norm Baker in action for the first time after they opened two weeks ago with a make-shift lineup, are immeasurably better than the club which went to the Mann Cup final last year.

COLORFUL PERFORMER

Third, that of Bionda, the Rocks not only have come up with a spectacular and colorful performer who is already a fan favorite but a dangerous scoring threat certain to add considerable to club punch.

And, fourth, that veteran Norm Baker has lost little, if any, of his old ability.

Sons, bolstered last night by the addition of veteran Johnny Mackay, were never in contention. They lacked cohesion and with Fred Fulla below his usual form in goal, their defensive weakness was more apparent than ever. They were limited to a goal a quarter with Jim Heffernan, one of the two players they had who stuck to playing lacrosse in the penalty-filled game, getting three of them.

FLASHES OF POWER

On the other hand, while playing raggedly at times, the Rocks showed flashes of scoring power and their defensive play held the Nanaimo attack easily. Best of all from the Victoria viewpoint was the performance of a brand-new line, which had Baker centering for Bionda and Sibbald.

This trio accounted for seven goals, with Baker getting four to lead both clubs and Bionda scoring twice while making the plays for four goals. Baker turned in a fine display in his first game in two years, showing his old elusiveness and shooting with accuracy.

But the player who had the fans buzzing was Bionda, who looks like a lacrosse edition of Spider Mazur. The lanky forward is a spectacular stick-handler who has more moves than a chess master. He scored the first time he got possession of the ball, moving right down the middle and fooling Mackay completely with his fake shot before deking Fulla and dropping the ball in the net. Bionda's behind-the-back passing, which he does with amazing accuracy, and that fake shot had the Sons and everyone else befuddled time after time.

IMPRESSIVE DISPLAY

All in all, it was an impressive display for the Shamrocks, although the game produced only sports of good lacrosse and was slow and scrambly much of the time.

Probably the biggest reason for this was the flood of penalties handed out by referees Bill Dickinson and Bill Wilkes. The pair set out to call every infraction, and while they didn't succeed, they saw enough to add up to two major penalties, a misconduct and 32 minutes, a total of 84 minutes, which is close to, if not a league record.

SEVERSON FELLED

The penalty total was a bit deceiving in that the game wasn't as rough as that 84 minutes would indicate although there was some ill-feeling on occasion. But there was only one fight, in which Whitey Severson overpitched himself by taking on big Arnie Duggan, who scored a one-punch victory with a smashing right hand which felled the smaller Victoria player.

Rocks play their third game tonight, meeting the youthful Royals at New Westminster. Baker is unable to make the trip and junior Al Davies has been substituted. He will play on a line with Harry Irwin and Al Gill while Northup will take Baker's spot between Bionda and Sibbald. The Rocks play their next game at home against PNE Indians on Wednesday.

Victoria Tyees, who rolled to the top of the Western International Baseball League standings last week with solid and timely hitting making up for mound failures, last night wasted good pitching for the second game in a row as they lost another one to Yakima Bears, 5-1.

PRIOR PITCHES WELL

Bill Prior turned in a fine pitching job as he held the Bears to one run in the first six innings but the Tyees, three-hitted for the second time in the series, couldn't give the lanky right-hander any support. They did manage to tie the score in their half of the seventh—on three bases on balls and a sacrifice fly—but Prior weakened in the Yakima seventh and the Bears put it away with a three-run rally.

Hard-hitting Len Noren proved to be the most bother-some of the winners, getting three singles in four trips. Tom Perez, Eddie Lake and Joe Joshua were the only Tyees to hit safely as the Victorians dropped into fourth place, a game and a half behind the leading Vancouver Capilanos.

The hard-hitting Caps continued to make a shambles of opposing pitching staffs as they trimmed Wenatchee Chiefs, 10-5. The Chiefs actually got 16 of the 29 hits the game produced, but their safeties lacked the authority of Vancouver's. K Chorlton, who is hitting them for distance this season, got his fifth home run, two doubles and a single to lead the winning attack.

Manager Bill Brenner managed to get credit for his third win but proved no puzzle to Wenatchee batsmen, giving up 13 hits before removing himself in the seventh inning.

In other games, Lewiston moved into third place with a 5-2 win over Salem Senators while Tri-City Braves scored a freakish 9-7 victory over Spokane to knock the Indians into a fifth-place tie.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices were fairly steady with rise and of upturns in U.S. markets. Trading was dull.

Overnight export bookings of Canadian wheat included Germany 1,250,000 bushels, U.K. 500,000, and Brazil 400,000.

Lake and rail prices for top grades of class two (WA) hard red spring wheat were unchanged to one cent higher, lower grades were unchanged.

Cash Grain Close

CHICAGO (AP) — All grains except old crop soybeans moved ahead for substantial gains in active dealings.

Buying in wheat stemmed from a belief prices were attractive at their current level, discount under the prospective U.S. government loan and the same theory was behind demand for corn and oats.

Wheat closed 2 to 2¼ higher.

Industrials At New High On Wall St.

NEW YORK (CP) — Stocks made up their losses of the previous session to the penny in a more active session.

Industrial issues made a new average high since October 22, 1929 and utilities were at their best since September 1, 1931. The rails missed by 38 cents setting a new top on the move.

Heavy Toronto Trade

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market strengthened after a session of lower prices that saw the heaviest trading in almost [illegible] months.

Losing strength was shown in industrials and base metals. Western oils were down all day and golds were mixed to slightly lower.

Industrials and Montreal-originated issues were slightly stronger.

Pacific Petroleum dropped $1.[illegible] and Peace River Gas [illegible].

Industrial strength came in paper, food, liquor and refining issues.

Carriers Hold Firm

MONTREAL (CP) — Stock market prices made a fresh off-and-on irregular pattern. Trading was slow.

A mixed bag in chief papers, mines and industrials section in beverages and stores. Utilities and banks were generally lower. Carriers held firm.

Prices were mixed in a narrow range. Aviens dipped 10 cents while Eastern Smelting and Campbell Chibougamau were each 10 cents higher. Western oils drifted into softer territory. Calvan lost 40 cents.

Gas Stocks Rally

VANCOUVER — Natural gas stocks continued to be the centre of interest with prices generally showing strength towards the end of the session.

Canada Atlantic closed 25 cents above its low for the day at $5 and rallying influences were noted in Yankee Princess, Vanlor and Charter, all of which had been marked down following Tuesday's natural gas setback reported from Washington. Pacific Petroleum and Peace River Natural Gas remained under the weather.

Other oils inclined higher, while mines and industrials showed little change.

Bankers Split on Higher Rates

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Victoria bankers are divided on the suggestion made to the Commons Banking Committee that banks should be allowed to take chattels as security for loans at an interest rate of 1 per cent a month.

None is wholeheartedly enthusiastic although most agree that the banks are simply [illegible] into the laps of the finance corporations who in turn take advantage of their position to charge higher interest rates than the banks which are limited by act to a 6 per cent interest rate.

Where most banks will lend money without security it [illegible] a step will be strong, for it has been suggested that if banks were given the right to charge up to 12 per cent interest, many present loans on a semi-secured basis might be upped from the present maximum interest rate of 6 per cent to the new higher rate.

SECURITY INVESTMENT
We have been fortunate in securing the listing of a well-known hotel property in one of the larger centres on Vancouver Island. The hotel has a steady year round clientele of commercial travelers, government men, etc., no tourists. The assured length of this hotel is far beyond what one would expect possible with safety. This hotel [illegible] Is it any wonder [illegible] If you like the idea of a [illegible] $1,000 and annual [illegible] $3,400 annually on mortgage of which approximately $4,500 is principal plus interest, living which includes very nice three-room suite, heat, light, laundry, phone, insurance, in fact everything except food and clothes. $3,600 pays off mortgage in approximately six years. Room rates $4 to $5 per day single, $7 to $8 per day double. All were furnished by 15 tenantrooms. Very little work for owners in fact the hotel could be room only, suggested [illegible] owners reside there. This is a genuine proposition open to full inspection.

Vancouver Cats Breathe Easier

VANCOUVER (CP)—The feline population of Vancouver can rest a little easier today. A proposal by SPCA director David Ricardo that they be licensed has been rejected by city council. Ald. The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1♡	Pass
2♣	Pass	2♡	Pass
4♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

What would you have bid with North's hand? Four hearts is an underbid; consider that you held the king of spades instead of your singleton and obviously you would have to make some stronger call. Actually, a singleton is worth far more than the king in most hands, although it happens that in this deal partner also has only one spade so he cannot use North's hand for ruffing. Five hearts is better, but partner must pass because he may fear that part of your strength will be in spades where it is useless. Your best call with the North hand is four diamonds. Then if partner bids four hearts you will bid five. Actually, South will bid five diamonds and you can then go to five hearts, whereupon South will bid six hearts.

West opened a spade and East won with the ace, returning the five of diamonds. Here was a pitfall for declarer. It was tempting to play for divided honors, just in case there should be some horrendous break in the club suit. But it would be a mistake to play the nine of diamonds because North's ace must be saved as a reentry just in case trumps and clubs second round of clubs, but both break badly. If South had claret was able to overtake the played the nine of diamonds, he jack with dummy's king and would have been defeated. [illegible] plan. Ace ten through East's [illegible] King and queen. Church to Blame if World Fails To Halt Bickering, Bishop Says

Churches must be held primarily to blame if peoples of the world continue to bicker on the road to self-destruction, said Bishop Gerald Kennedy of Los Angeles last night.

"A spiritual and moral force will have to be released by the people to counteract the hysterical fear in the world today," he said.

Bishop Kennedy, Methodist Church leader for Southern California, Arizona and Hawaii, arrived in Victoria last night to speak at the B.C. Conference of the United Church of Canada.

English-speaking peoples had the key to the world's problem, said Bishop Kennedy. The U.S., Canada and Britain must hold together, keep their heads, and the present tension then would come out all right.

REACH PEOPLE

"We ought to insist that government leaders explore every possible way . . . to reduce armaments," he said. "We must get to the Russian people past the Kremlin. Peoples of the world can live in peace."

An author of 11 religious books, Bishop Kennedy made a slashing attack on the tactics of Senator Joseph McCarthy and the House of Representatives un-American activity committee.

"The general feeling in the States regarding Communism is that McCarthyism, in the name of being anti-Communist, is presenting the same situation in which Communism thrives," he stated.

"There is a tendency in the U.S. to fear anything which is not entirely orthodox," he said.

It was common to brand people "subversive" or un-American if they differed with public opinion, said the bishop. There was persecution of men who, although loyal, had liberal ideas.

With this in mind the Methodist Church is shortly to launch a crusade in support of the United Nations. Bishops of the church recently spent a period at the UN in New York studying the organization and listening to world leaders.

"It is remarkable what the UN has accomplished," continued the Bishop. "It is the only hope if we want a free world. The work being done is magnificent, especially that which seldom reaches the headlines—the work being done by the World Health Organization, International Labor Organization, economic program, and the work on behalf of children."

UN SUPPORTED

The American people as a whole stood behind the decisions of the UN although there had been a lot of sniping at the organization from various groups, he said.

"Aggression must be stopped before it goes too far," he said. "It takes the minds of the people off McCarthy who, I feel, is the best friend the Communists have."

WOULD INTERVENE

The American people "would go along" with any UN decision to actively intervene in Indo-China, thought Bishop Kennedy.

Bishop Kennedy, who lives in Los Angeles, is in charge of 370 churches with a total congregation of 165,000 people.

He will speak at the United Church conference at Metropolitan United at 12.10 p.m. today, Friday, Saturday, and Monday. He is to preach at Vancouver on Sunday. And tonight he will speak at a public gathering at Metropolitan United Church.

Laing Challenges Bennett Government

Premier W. A. C. Bennett and the Social Credit government must now produce or face annihilation in B.C., Liberal leader Arthur Laing indicated last night.

Speaking at a meeting of the Oak Bay Liberal Association, he said the new government had achieved popularity by "reflecting on its predecessors."

"The time is coming when he must now answer for his own government," the Liberal leader told the meeting of 75 persons.

Mr. Laing, together with Oak Bay MLA F. A. Gibbs and Victoria MLA George Gregory were hopeful of a defeat of the Socred government in the next election.

FOREST LICENSES

On the question of forest management licenses, repeating his arguments of the recent legislature session, Mr. Laing called for a royal commission to investigate the whole forest situation.

He said the delay in granting some of the current forest management license applications, like that of B.C. Forest Products under consideration since January, was due to the government's "indecision and fright."

He said 200,000,000 acres of the best forest lands were now alienated under the management license system and there were 75 applications pending.

Mr. Laing strongly criticized the Socred fiscal policy and its record high budget. He said it was collecting $170 from every person in B.C. as compared to $80 in Ontario and $77 in Quebec.

He said the effect of the increase in sales tax was already being felt by business in the province because "$1 out of every $20 was too much for people to pay."

LOGS COME BACK

The province he said was exporting logs to Japan and the lumber was coming back and being sold in Montreal for less than B.C.-milled lumber.

He painted a gloomy picture of agriculture in the province stating that Fraser Valley milk producers would take in $3,500,000 less this year than last due to the decontrol of milk above the producer level.

Referring to statements by Socred Noel Murphy on mone courage" to make the old tary reform, Mr. Laing said there was a danger in B.C. when "200 jubilant people" could gather in Victoria to [illegible]

HELP MUNICIPALITIES

Earlier Mr. Gibbs attacked Mr. Bennett's "deficit-financing." He said surpluses from previous budgets should be earmarked for specific purposes, notably aid to beleaguered B.C. municipalities.

He said in the new hospital insurance scheme the Socreds had adopted "a Socialist concept" because they "lacked the [illegible] to make scheme work. He said with declining business the province will lose revenue on the sales tax by 15 per cent this year.

In a review of the Labor Relations Act, Mr. Gregory said the Liberals approved four fifths of the bill but opposed those parts which placed complete jurisdiction over labor disputes in the hands of the minister of labor and removed the board's authority.

Dressed Meat Imports From Alberta Legal

The two companies in Alberta shipping dressed meats into B.C. are acting entirely within their rights, Hon. Kenneth Kiernan, provincial agriculture minister said last night.

Commenting on a department of trade and industry inquiry into Alberta dressed meat shipments undercutting Vancouver packing houses, he said he had discussed the situation with the Alberta minister last week.

But he said no definite decision or recommendations were reached during his discussions with the Alberta minister.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said last night any inquiry into the B.C.-Alberta dressed meat situation was not being done through his department.

Trade and Industry Minister Ralph Chetwynd recently started investigating shipments of dressed meats coming into this province from Alberta.

The meats are sold at about a two-cent lower price and are said to be undercutting Vancouver packing houses.

Mr. Kiernan stated the two main points of contention he and the Alberta minister discussed were grading and reduced employment in the industry.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Majority of Vancouver's 20 cafes with recently acquired liquor licenses are not going to tolerate customers whose main object is to drink, Ross Brown, president of Canadian Restaurant Association's B.C. Division, said Wednesday.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A. S. Mathew, Social Credit member of the legislature for Vancouver centre, told a constituency meeting Tuesday night that "a thorough investigation is imperative" into the hospital setup in B.C.

He suggested a three-man board consisting of a chartered accountant, a business man and a medical representative, conduct the inquiry.

"The difference in hospital costs between B.C. and Alberta is alarming," said Mr. Mathew. "They are double or more here. We should know whether this cost is due to overlapping of duties, waste or any other cause."

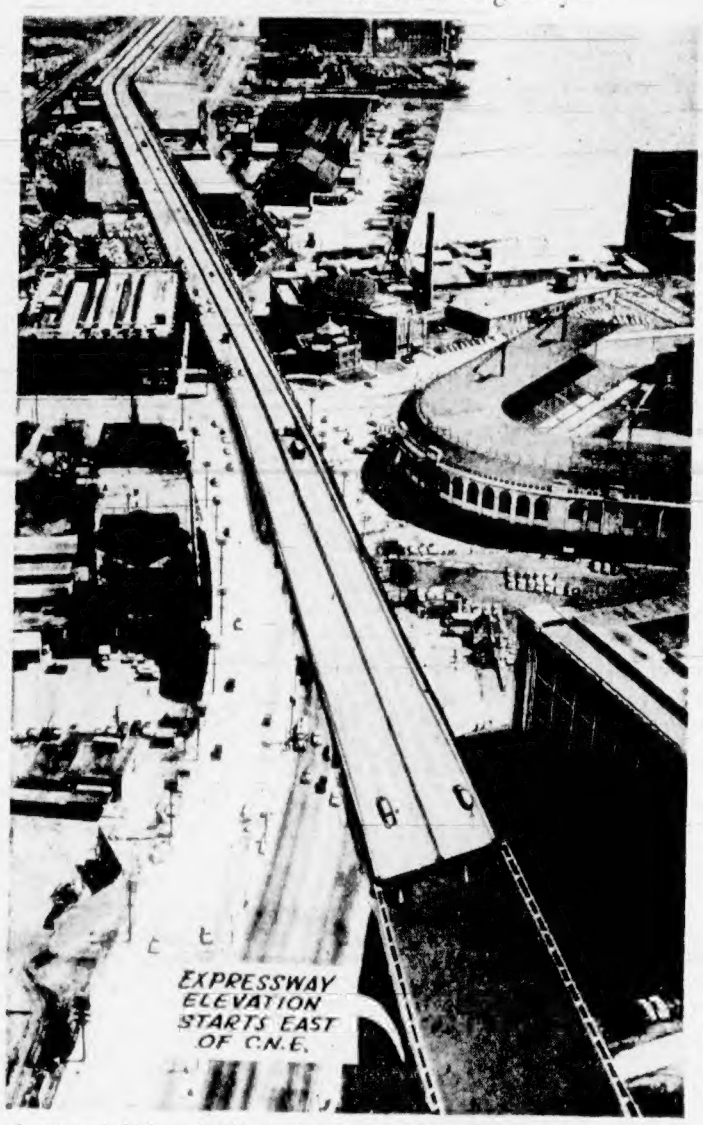
WORST FLOODS IN HISTORY MENACE PROVINCE

New Look for Canadian Highways?



A new era in highway building in Canada may be born if Toronto's city council agrees to proceed with the elevated express highway pictured above. The six-lane super-road, planned as a $50,000,000 project, would run along the shoreline of Lake Ontario and offer 50-mile-an-hour travel from one end of the city to the other without a stop light. The highway would rival similar projects in New York, Los Angeles and Chicago. This view shows how the road would look as it passed the Maple Leaf Baseball Stadium. — (Central Press Canadian.)

Waters Rise Fast

Roads, Bridges, Homes Hit In First Big Onslaught

B.C. today stands on the brink of the worst floods in its history as millions of tons of river water swirl viciously and mount at the rate of a foot a day in depth.

As fast-rising streams cut the Trans-Canada Highway in two sections and an area of Kelowna was inundated, experts yesterday set May 24 as the crucial date. In past years May 24 has been considered the turning point in B.C.'s annual flood problem.

A spokesman for the federal water resources branch said the flood potential exists today is "considerably worse" than in 1948 when the floods left 16,000 persons homeless for more than a month and caused $30,000,000 damage.

HIGHWAY CUT

Flash floods cut the Trans-Canada Highway near Chase and Revelstoke in the Interior but public works crews kept the roads open by throwing up dirt ramparts.

Rising water in the Moyie River flooded a portion of the trans-provincial highway south of Cranbrook and the Vernon-Slocan Road is closed as a result of rampaging creeks in the Monashee Mountains.

The Fraser, Columbia, Kootenay and other rivers continued their swift rise and officials estimated that 100,000 cubic feet of water a second is now passing Hope on the Fraser.

The biggest jump was registered in the Columbia at Trail. The guage there showed 13.7 feet yesterday compared with 13.8 feet Tuesday—a gain of more than one foot, four inches.

Experts feel that the Kootenay poses the worst threat, followed by the Columbia and the Fraser.

RUNS RAMPANT

The Renata Creek ran rampant for five hours yesterday, cutting a swath of devastation through the fertile, fruit-growing district near the town of Renata in the first serious flood threat of the Kootenay River this year.

Warm rains Monday and Tuesday caused the creek to overflow its banks for the first time in the history of the centre, situated on the Lower Arrow Lakes about 30 miles from Nelson.

The flash flood caught the villagers totally unprepared as it tore out a bridge in the heart of the town.

It was still swirling over the blossoming orchards last night, and efforts to sandbag the crumbling banks of the stream proved futile. Residents were felling trees in an effort to shore up the banks.

A plea for help brought 1,000 sandbags by truck to Deer Park and these were moved by small boats across the Arrow Lakes.

Though chief damage was to the orchards, a barn was swept away and a house caved in.

At Kelowna, waters of Mill Creek spilled over the banks, flooding six blocks of residential area in the heart of the Okanagan Valley town and forcing several families to evacuate.

Fed by a driving, 24-hour rain and swollen by melting snow at its headwaters, the tiny waterway burst its banks on its course through to Okanagan Lake and in several areas topped bridges and poured onto roadways.

No injuries were reported.

Sandbagging operations, which began on a volunteer basis as the creek rose early yesterday, were intensified by city and provincial public works crews. In some districts, gardens were covered to a depth of several feet.

Roadblocks were erected by RCMP later in the day and creek waters were still rising late last night. Police said further evacuation was expected.

It was the second blow dealt the area by nature in the past month.

CROPS RUINED

Earlier, up to 95 per cent of the peach, apricot and pear crops were written off when stricken by an unseasonable frost. Other soft fruits suffered, but not as heavily.

The crops were worth $17,000,000 last year.

Meanwhile, Deputy Public Works Minister Evan Jones said the department will take action where it is necessary in co-operation with local authorities and civil defense personnel.

Mr. Jones was provincial co-ordinator in the battle against the distastrous 1948 floods.

At the same time Premier W. A. C. Bennett issued a statement pledging full provincial assistance.

"The government is closely watching any possible flood condition that might arise," he said. "The assistance of all government departments that may be required will be channeled through the minister of public works who will co-operate with other provincial departments, civil defense and local authorities."

The deputy minister was on the phone to the district engineer at Kimberley yesterday while he was being interviewed by this reporter.

The engineer was told to take full charge of any diking and sand-bagging which may be necessary and to get equipment through the civil defense co-ordinator.

Mr. Jones said that Kimberley was under no immediate threat but preparations were being made "to make sure we won't be caught off guard."

Mark Creek, which spilled over in 1948 and caused $500,

Cabinet To Consider Move

Canada May Halt Immigrants Because of Unemployment

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada may cut down on immigration for the remainder of 1954 as the result of unemployment. (See further story on Page 17).

The government will be conducting its half-yearly survey of the immigration outlook this month, and informants said Wednesday the 1954 program could be affected by unemployment that reached a post-war peak a few weeks ago.

The question the cabinet will consider, it was stated, is whether Canada can continue to take in immigrants at the current rate when there is more unemployment than normal in the country.

The unemployment — which reached a top of 570,000 job-seekers in late March—Wednesday led the executive council of the 580,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada to call on the government to cut off immigration altogether for at least the remainder of this year.

Immigration Minister Harris said in an interview the government does not intend to make a complete cut-off.

Last year, Canada brought in 168,000 immigrants. Early this year, Mr. Harris predicted the number of 1954 arrivals would be about the same.

Shivering Czech Flies to Freedom

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — A shivering 23-year-old Czech, clad only in his underwear, crash-landed a two-engine civilian plane in the U.S. troop training area at Grafenwoehr near here Wednesday and asked for asylum in the West.

The four-seat plane broke a wing when it crash-landed after crossing the nearby Iron Curtain border but the pilot escaped injuries, German police said.

The name of the pilot and other details were not disclosed.

Canada Needs More, or Less

Business Men, Labor Split on Immigration

Reaction of business and industry is diametrically opposed to that of labor regarding the Canadian immigration policy.

Where industry wants more potential buyers, labor fears a glut on the job market.

Here are some of the points made by representative British Columbians queried on the immigration policy:

George Wheaton, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, thought immigration should be encouraged.

He said: "It may look like a rather obvious remedy, but the long-term requirement of Canada is to have more people who can contribute to our national productivity. Canadians cannot improve this country by building a fence around it and attempting to trade among ourselves.

DON'T CUT DOWN

Hector Crombie, managing secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, didn't think it conducive to prosperity in the long run to cut down on immigration.

"I feel the prosperity of all democratic countries has been based on the principle of accepting people from all countries," he said.

"Our unemployment today, I believe, is the result of pricing ourselves out of world markets."

M. Aubrey Kent said: "It always seems to me that within reasonable limits the fact of immigrants coming to Canada creates employment.

REAL PROGRAM NEEDED

E. T. Staley, Provincial Council of Carpenters secretary, said it is time the government "cut off or slowed" immigration unless it is prepared to implement a "real program."

The program would have to include housing and efforts to place immigrants on an equal basis with Canadian citizens. Many newcomers are under obligation to pay back passage or stay in one place, he said.

City Outside Workers Ask Government Strike Ballot

A strike vote has been asked by the 200-member Victoria civic outside workers' union to back demands of wage parity with Vancouver's outside staff.

Union president Cecil Holt said the vote was asked last night after official notification that the city had rejected a unanimous conciliation board recommendation of a 3 per cent wage increase.

The union had accepted the award, which was not binding upon either party. The award has now been abandoned in favor of the strike vote and original wage demands, which average 19 cents an hour.

DISCUSSION TODAY

City council may discuss the workers' action at its session this afternoon.

Tonight the inside workers meet to decide on future action in view of a similar refusal by council to grant them a 3 per cent increase unanimously recommended by the conciliation board.

Some aldermen last night said they favored the dispute going to arbitration. Alderman Arthur Dowell, works committee chairman, said he was "sorry" to hear the report.

He felt council shouldn't have turned down the recommendation as it was unanimous. He added that there was no justification for such an increase.

"The only logical solution now is arbitration," Alderman Dowell said.

Ald. W. F. Pinfold, who said he voted in council for the award, said he thought the union would agree to arbitration before "any drastic action."

He said that firemen made concessions, the police department estimates were pared, inside staff offered to accept 2 per cent, and the city has made no overtures.

Ald. R. P. Macmillan said "I expected it." He learned, the alderman said, that when outside workers voted on the 3 per cent award there was a majority of only 5 per cent in favor of acceptance.

He favored an increase to the workers because police and firemen received them, unjustifiably so, and one group should not be favored over another, Ald. Macmillan said.

"The action now is in support of a legitimate complaint," he said.

Ald. Mrs. Margaret Christie said she had no comment.

Ald. Brent Murdoch said his stand is arbitration and suggested it for both inside and outside union disputes.

The government - supervised vote probably will not be set up until late next week. If a strike is authorized it could begin immediately after the vote.

Any work stoppage could affect garbage collections and dumping of garbage by Oak Bay from the city facilities, works projects including water, lights, sewers, roads, traffic lights, and similar city work.

Comox Lad To Get Medal

COURTENAY — A Comox lad, Robert Waters, will be in Vancouver Tuesday to receive the George Medal from Canada's governor-general, Right Honorable Vincent Massey. The award was made for the boy's part in rescuing airmen from a blazing Lancaster which crashed near here in 1950.

French Government May Collapse Today

PARIS (Reuters)—Premier Joseph Laniel's shaky government faces a crucial confidence vote on Indo-China today which may mean the end of the 10-month coalition regime.

Last-minute support for the Laniel cabinet came Wednesday from President Eisenhower's press conference statement, promising the United States is not yet resigned to losing Indo-China. (See Page 21.)

But French politicians still were worried by U.S. State Secretary Dulles' statement Tuesday that Indo-China is not essential to the security of Asia.

Dulles' statement was regarded here as crossing up Foreign Minister Georges Bidault's attempts to arrange a favorable Indo-China truce at the Geneva Far East conference.

The National Assembly is to act today on Laniel's call for a vote of confidence. If the Assembly votes down his request for postponement of a full-scale debate on Indo-China, the French government will fall.

Solitary Term Confirmed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — An army appeal court confirmed Wednesday the three-year solitary confinement sentence on conviction of treason handed to Iran's ex-dictator Mohammed Mossadegh by a lower military tribunal.

The court voted 6 to 1 to uphold the sentence and conviction the lower court gave the aged nationalist leader December 21 on charges he sought to overthrow the Shah before he himself was ousted last August by the royalist forces of Fazollah Zahedi, who replaced Mossadegh as premier.

Quest Begins Today For Atomic Pact

LONDON (AP) — The world's five leading atomic powers meet today in quest of a pact ending the arms race and outlawing atomic and germ warfare.

There were guarded hints from British and American informants that the western powers, jointly or individually, might put forward revised proposals in a bid to break the deadlock with Russia.

Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd is to open the conference and may read a personal message from Prime Minister Churchill to the American, French, Canadian and Soviet delegates, the informants reported.

It will be the first time Russian and western disarmament experts have faced each other since disclosure of the effects of the hydrogen bomb. These disclosures led the Churchill government to propose that a new effort at control should be made in London.
